THE "NEW" TICKET WHIPS THE FIGHT

AND JIM MORROW WILL BE SHERIFF

Mr. Armistead Is Elected Tax Receiver and Mr. Payne Treasurer.

A HARD FOUGHT CONTEST.

But One Free from Any Unpleasantries,

THE WATER BONDS ALSO WIN.

For Sheriff-J. W. Morrow; deputies, J. J. Barnes, M. N. Blount, Will D. Green A. Donehoo; for jailor, J. A. Jordan.

For Clerk-G. H. Tanner. For Tax Collector-A. P. Stewart. For Coroner-B. J. Davis.

John Gatins, Jr., as deputy. For Treasurer-Columbus Payne. For Surveyor-W. W. Griffin.

It has been a long time since any primary election has created as great interest as that of yesterday, yet despite the hard contest that was waged from early morning until the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock last evening, there is but little to say of the election scenes. Good nature was the prevailing characteriseverywhere, and although each polling place was lined with workers for the different candidates, there were no difficulties of any kind whatever.

The winning ticket is given above. Judge Tanner for clerk, Mr. Stewart for tax collector, Mr. Davis for coroner, and Mr. Griffin for surveyor, received practically the full vote polled. There were a few votes for Mr. Hillburn and Dr. Avary for coroner, and in several of the precincts Mr. Lanendon's name appeared on the tickets; but none of these gentlemen were The greatest interest everywhere is centered in the contests for the offices of sheriff, tax receiver and treasurer. There were Perkerson and Morrow men at every polling place in the county, and every point was carefully guarded. From the start, however, the talk indicated a Morrow victory. The large vestpocket vote was the un-certain quantity, but lowed that the showed count claims of the Morrow men were justified by the facts. Many people were greatly surprised that ticket developed. Particularly was this the case concerning the yote of the country precincts, where those unacquainted with the facts expected Perkerson majorities, and for this reason the returns - FOR from the country, received early in the evening, gave Mr. Morrow's friends, and the friends of the gentlemen associated with the greatest confidence. "I never saw such workers as that 'new' workers as that 'new' ticket contained," repolitician at THE CONSTITUTION office last night, and the sentiment received prompt endorsement on all sides. Mr. John J. Falvey's work for Morrow was the subject of universal comment. Their victory is, indeed, a notable one.

The strength developed by Mr. Armistead was an even greater surprise. Mr. Loyd's re-election was pretty generally conceded up to within a few days of the election, and no small share of the credit for turning the tide in Mr. Armistead's favor is undoubtedly due to Mr. John Gatins, Jr., who is associated with him as deputy. Mr. Gatins and his friends did splendid work which, added to that done by the candidate himself, brought victory.

For a time it seemed probable that Mr. Frank Ryan would be chosen for the position which Mr. Columbus Payne has filled so well, but the later returns showed that Mr. Payne had a very good majority. The Morrow ticket has 872 majority over the Loyd: and Mr. Payne has a majority of 517 over Mr. Ryan And the water bonds? In each ward there was somebody to look especially after the interests of the water bonds, and the result is that a good vote was cast for the pro-stion to issue bonds. . P. STEWART. Even if the supreme court de-cides against the former issue of bonds, there can be no question of the validity of an issue under this election. Of 2,464 votes polled in the bond election, 3,594 were "for the bonds," and only 70 "against the bonds."

The story of the day in the different wards is briefly told. First Ward.

In the first ward the new sheriff's ticket, headed by Morrow, led strongly, as it did in the majority of the other precincts.

Around the polls stirring crowd lingered all day, but the amount of effective electioneering done was small.
The voters had studied 10 CO selves, as a rule, and they dropped their ballots in the box accordingly.

From the first and steadily all along to the M. Armistead for tax collector had the call. Almost two to one was the rate at which the

FROM WASHINGTON TO NEW YORK.

The Washington Correspondents Give Ride Which Farry Split the Atmosphere-Very Exciting.

Washington, October 14.—[Special.]— Every year the Washington newspaper corres-pondents are tendered one or two pleasant trips by some of the railroads. There was one last Saturday and Sunday. The correspondents and their families were the guests of the "Royal Blue Line." It is the new route between Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, over the Baltimore and Ohio, Philadelphia and Reading, and Central of New Jersey railroads. These roads have combined and now run between Washington and New York, via Baltimore and Philadelphia, the fastest train in America. The regular schedule time is five hours: the distance about two hundred and forty miles. The trains are composed entirely of Pullman made day coaches, with all the most modern conveniences.

to Be Established Here.

Mobile, Ala., October 14.—[Special.]—Mr. C. G. Merriwether, with his family, go to Atlanta, Ga., tonight, which will be their future home. The official staff and headquarters of the Western Union Telegraph Company, will be moved to Atlanta, on Saturday, October 25th. Mr. Meriwether's staff, who will accompany him, is as follows: B. B. Shreve, chief clerk; W. W. Welsh, chief foreman; Frederick K. Aram, clerk; W. E. Alken and Frank W. Jones, stenographers. Mr. Meriwether has been superintendent of the southwestern division of the southern telegraph lines at Mobile since November 1, 1864. He has served successively the Southern Telegraph Company, the confederate government, the department of telegraphs in the military service of the United States, the American Telegraph Company and the Western Union Company. It was on one of these trains that the Washington correspondent's party were carried to New York. The train left Washington at 7:30 o'clock in the morning, making the run to Balti-more, forty-one miles, in thirty-nine minutes, and to Philadelphia, 150 miles, in two hours and forty-five minutes, or 165 miles, including the eight minutes lost in crossing the bay at Baltimore on the immense boat which car-ries a train of six cars without dividing them.

At Philadelphia a fifteen minutes' stop was made, the train being that much ahead of time. Between Philadelphia and New York mile after mile was run in fifty seconds without a jar or a lurch, and that distance—ninety miles, including a stop—was made in ninety-five minutes. The full time between Washington and New York was made in four hours and thirty-five minutes. Deducting twenty-five minutes for stops and crossing the bay at Baltimore, the actual running time was four hours and ten minutes, or 250 minutes to travel about 240 miles.

THE ENTERTAINMENT. On the train all manner of delicacies, including wine and elgars, were served from the dining car in front. At Jersey City the party took one of the New Jersey Central's handsome steamers, went up East river and then back down around the harbor through the Narrows and out as far as Sandy Hook.

THE PRESIDENT CALLS.

The Count at Gettysburg.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., October 14.—Comte de Paris and his fellow tourists arrived here over the Western Maryland railroad this evening, having spent most of the day on Antietam battlefield. Generals Doubleday, Newton, Caldwell, Sickles, Hayes, Wright, Howard, Slocum, Gregg and Butterfield are here and will go over the field with the visitors tomorrow, explaining the battle from their respective positions during the fight. The PRESIDENT CALLS.

The president and party returned here at 8:45 a.m. As soon as the president had breakfasted he and Mrs. Harrison took a carriage and paid a visit of condolence to the family of the late Associate Justice Miller. The president also ordered the flag on the white house to be put at half-mast as a mark of respect to the memory of the dead justice. GOVERNOR FOWLE SPEAKS. The Thirtieth Annual State Fair of North Carolina.

COPENHAGEN, October 14.—King Christian gave a dinner at the palace yesterday to the officers of the United States cruiser Baltimore. The United States minister and Mrs. Carrwere also present. The king proposed the health of President Harrison. Mr. Carr toasted the health of the royal family. The king and queen and crown prince will visit the Baltimore on Thursday.

Carolina.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 14,—[Special.]—Governor Fowle today opened the thirtieth annual state fair, and delivered an address full of encouragement. He said the farmers are in a better plight than in the past decade, and that the crops are the most bountful on record, while, thanks to the previous hard times and enforced economy, they have been produced at less cost than ever. There is a notable improvement in stock, particularly cattle, while the diversity of crops is adding immensely to the prosperity of the farmers. All labor is employed. As to railway construction, the governor said that the state will be second only to Georgia. He spoke of the status of the negro, and said that while in North Carolina only one negro in every 521 was in prison, in Massachusetts one out of every 178 was a prisoner. Wichita, Kan., October 14.—The village of Andale was struck by a hurricane yesterday, and suffered great damage. A large Catholic church was lifted from the foundation and thrown a distance of many yards. Lighter buildings were tossed about like boxes. Trees were torn up and tossed through the air.

The weather was exceedingly disagreeable, but thousands of persons assembled in the streets to witness the funeral procession. The route from the Thames embankment, where the army mustered to Abney Park cemetery, where the remains were interred lay through the densely populated districts of Stoke-Newington. The entire route was lined with dense crowds of spectators and the windows of houses were thronged by occupants and their friends. All railways entering London ran excursion trains, and the throng in the city was augmented by immense numbers of the salvationists and their friends from the provinces. There was also a large attendance from foreign countries. The crowds surpassed in point of numbers those which gather to witness the show on Lord Mayor's day.

There were fifteen bands in line. All those who took part in the procession were officers of the army, privates and their friends not being allowed to march.

London, October 14.—The Standard, com-menting on the fluctuations in consols, says it has not been equalled since the Crimean war, has not been equalled since the Crimean war, and adds:

The argument that the market is unsound is plausible, but shallow. Consols are weak for the same reason that colonial inscribed stocks are weak; because they are now among the syndicated securities. Mr. Goschen has dislodged them from investment in nooks and crannies, where they had been stored for years, perhaps. The general consols and stock thus thrown upon the world never found home. Again, dear money and higher rate of interest obtainable elsewhere, compelled or tempted temporary holders to sell.

The visitors left this evening, about half of them going north to the Lake Superior iron regions, and the remainder going south to visit the new iron mills in Alabama. The two parties will come together again the latter part of this month at New York, whence they will sail for Europe.

General Belknap's Funeral.

Washington, October 14.—The widow of General Belknap wishes to avoid selecting the same time for his funeral as that upon which the Miller obsequies are to take place, as there are many persons who desire to attend both funerals, and the date will, therefore, not be fixed until after the arrangements for the Miller funeral are completed. She has determined, however, that his remains shall be buried in the Arlington, Va., national cemetery. Mrs. Belknap has received a large number of telegrams of condolence from friends, including one from Crocker's Iowa brigade and another from citizens of Keckuk, Ia., requesting that he be buried there.

The Striking Miners.

Ishpeming, Mich., October 14.—The Detroit mine has conceded to the demands of the striking miners. Captain Thomas Walker, of Lake Angeline mine, summoned the striking miners from his mine to a conference yesterday afternoon, but no understanding was reached, and another meeting will be held this morning. The men continued as orderly as before, but are firm in their demands. Assistance is pledged from Menominee and Gogebic regions and the men declare they will stay out all the winter if necessary.

PULASKI, Tenn., October 14.—[Special.]— Today's session of the Tennessee Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South was most lively one.

The case of Rev. D. C. Kelley, prohibition candidate for governor, was one of all absorb-ing interest, and the conference hall was

As shown by yesterday's vote, the sentiment of the conference is overwhelmingly in Dr. Kelley's favor, and Bishop Hargrove's execution of the church law was resisted at every step.

BISHOP HARGROVE'S DECISION Bishop Hargrove this morning decided all the questions of law which were raised yesterday as to the manner of choosing the trial committee against the accused. This involved a great deal, as the conference would have chosen a committee that would clear Dr. Kelley, while one selected by the bishop would probably convict him of the charge of having left his work. Exceptions were taken to the rulings. Rev. B. F. Haynes offered a resolution claiming the right for the conference to select the committee.

This was ruled out of order.

rights of the 1.000 of faithful local itinerant preachers, and in the name of fairness, justice and Methodist law," was filed.

Mr. Haynes then offered a resolution appealing to the college of bishops against these rulings, and it was adopted by an overwhelming vote.

Another protest signed by over one-half the numbers of the conference, was then filed. This protest took exceptions to every ruling of the bishop. The main point was that the conference had been deprived of its power over D. C. Kelley, and that the bishop had appointed on the committee of inquiry, men who had already announced their opinion.

THE TRIAL PROCEEDS. Bishop Hargrove then announced the com-mittee of trial, consisting of thirteen members. eight of whom are known to be against Dr.
Kelley, and five for him. This committee immediately went into secret session, and the conference adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock tonight, when a report is expected.
The committee having Dr. Kelley on trial was not ready to report at 9 o'clock, or therewas not ready to report at 9 o'clock, so, there fore, it adjourned until tomorrow morning.

A Chicago Vaccination Yarn. A Chicago Vaccination Yarn.

Chicago, Ill., October 10.—The commissioner of health, Dr. Wickersham, had another cup of wormwood passed to his lips today. If there is anything that the doctor hates it is the idea that women should be vaccinated on any other portion of their persons than the upper part of the left arm. He had hardly reached his private office when a neatly dressed woman, closely veiled, walked in. She spoke very low, so low that the doctor could scarcely hear what she had to say.

"I want to be vaccinated," she said, "and I know it is against the rules, but I want to be vaccinated on the left leg below the knee."

"Madam," said the doctor, "we can't do that here. This place is too public for such an exhibition."

The doctor was about to accede to the request, when he said: "Raise your veil, madam, and let me see your face."

The doctor fell back in his chair. The features were ebony black. "No, ma'am; no, ma'am," said the doctor, testily, "no more ladies will be vaccinated, except on their arms, in this office while I am commissioner of

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, October 14.—Cotton futures opened at one point advance on near and unchanged on late months, closing at a decline of seven points on October and four to five on other months from yesterday's closing prices. The market opened with a show of strength, in response to a firmer Liverpool market, but the close there showed the early advance lost, and was followed here by a general selling movement, under which prices slowly but steadily gave way until near the close of business, on demand to cover some of the early sales. Most of the bears, however, apparently went home "short." The element of weakness was the depression on the stock exchange; also, very disquieting financial rumors from London, attended by a decline in silver. Weather reports from the south generally advised clear weather, but the bulls attempted to make some apital out of the low temperature at some points, and probably this contributed to the steadier closing. ## THE TRADES DISPLAY

THE FLOATS TO BE ELEGANTLY FITTED UP.

A Boston Artist Takes Charge of the Work of Constructing the Floats—The Decorations Arriving Daily.

MACON, Ga., October 14 .- [Special.]-The Macon trades' display is only ten days off and interest is now at fever heat. Everybody is at work and the floats are being rapidly constructed. Some of these floats have been finished and among those shown THE CONSTITU-TION today were some of the most elegant ever seen in the south. It is safe to say that in the neighborhood of 200 floats will be in line, and the procession will, probably, be larger than any ever seen in the state.

A Boston artist has arrived to take charge of the construction of the floats and is working night and day. He is Mr. Fredrick Kingham, one of the best known and most talented artists of the above city, and one who has made a great reputation with his works. He stated to THE CONSTI-TUTION today that every float would be out in ample time and that he would guarantee they would not be surpassed.

Decorations are arriving daily and the stores and residences on the day of the display will present a fine appearance. Macon will put on her holiday attire on that day. The city will be turned over to the visitors. It will be a great day. The drummers are at work on their part of the programme, and it will be carried out in grand style. They have rented a large two-story building on Cherry street, and propose to entertain their guests in n royal manner. They will have elegant spread on the first floor of the building, of which their customers and friends will be invited to partake throughout the day. On the second floor of the building they will have a hundred or more cots for the accommodation of those of their friends who fail t secure accommodations at the hotels, so no one need hesitate about coming on this account. Besides these cots, the boarding houses propose to tax their rooms to accommodate every visitor possible.
Every policeman, and passenger agent of the different reads, and the members of the rades' Display Association, will be nurnished with lists showing the different houses, with the number they can accommodate, and this information will be furnished to every visitor in quest of lodging and board.

The address to be made by Governor Gordon is attractive. The address to be made by Governor Gordon is attracting attention all over the state, and reports show that many are coming for the sole purpose of hearing the distinguished gentleman

A row of seats over 500 feet long is to be erected for the accommodation of visitors, thus enabling them to avoid standing on the streets during the parade. In fact, every comfort is being provided for the guests. The trades' display will unquestionably be the grandest thing of the kind ever undertaken in Georgia.

SUING THE PAPERS.

Damage Suits Brought Against Georgia Papers for a Publication. AUGUSTA, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—To-day two libel suits for $10,000 each were filed in the city court against the Augusta Chron-fele.

In one Charles J. Whitehead is complainant and in the other Jesse J. Whitehead.

The ground of action is based upon a publication on August 6th, in which, as it is stated, that T. P. Shipp and Horace Atkinson, in returning from Watkinsville, engaged in a difficulty with "the notorious Whiteheads," in which Atkinson was killed and Shipp severely wounded. The item was printed the day before in The Macon Telegraph, and was clipped by The Chronicle news editor in making up his state news. The Chronicle knew none of the parties and nothing of the origin of the In state news. The Chronicle knew none of the parties and nothing of the origin of the responsibility of the item. When, some time later, it was brought to the notice of The Chronicle that the statements in the publication were erroneous, the paper offered to publish any desired correction, but no reply was made to this.

Suits have been fieled for $10,000 damages in each case against The Macon Telegraph and The Augusta Chronicle, $40,000 in all. Both papers will continue to come out daily as heretofore until further notice.

John D. Mell, lof Athens, is the attorney who brings the suits.

ADJOURNMENT OF COURT.

There Will Be No Court in Augusta Until

Augusta Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—To-day there was a meeting of the Augusta bar at which a resolution was adopted requesting an adjournment of the regular October term of Richmond superior court until January next, when it is customary always to hold an adjournment term of the court for the cases not tried at the regular term. The reasons assigned are that the time of holding the Middle circuit court has been changed so as to conflict with the Augusta circuit and many Augusta lawyers practice in both circuits; also that the Augusta docket in the supreme court will be reached at the time of the superior court in October, and many Augusta lawyers will have to attend that. Judge Roney, in accordance with the request of the bar, decided to abandon the October term, which would have opened Monday next, and the term will go ever to January, an unprecedented occurrence. The juries drawn hold over until then.

TOM WINN SPEAKS

TO THE PEOPLE OF GWINNETT AT BUFORD.

Brass Band Parades the Streets Playing, So as to Attract People from the Meeting-Winn's Success.

BUFORD, Ga., October 14.-[Special.]-The democratic meeting called by Mr. Winn's friends to be held tonight at this place, was nthusiastic and democratic to the core. onel Candler was invited to address the citiof his hearers. His speech was a masterly presentation of the issues of democracy as affecting the present campaign. His appeals to the people to support Colonel Winn were received amid much applause, and his entire address was an ovation for himself and the party.

COLONEL WINN SPEAKS. Colonel Winn, who came up on the "Belle," was called upon and delivered a short but strong and able talk upon the pres ent race. It was the first time Colone Candler ever heard him, and he remarked tonight:

"Men need not say Tom Winn can't speak He is as strong a man new as the average congressman that I have been with during my eight years in congress." C. H. Brand was called for, and in reply urged the people to lay aside all petty preju dice and personal preference and come to the rescue of the party.

Captain Espy, of Buford, made a strong and organized speech in Winn's behalf, which threw a bombshell into Pickett's forces.

THE CHARGES MADE

By a Newspaper Man Against a Congressman

CHARLOTTE, N. C., October 14.—[Special.]—ongressman John M. Brower, of the fifth North Carolina district, was assaulted by Joseph Bradfield, at Wentworth, in Rockingham county, Saturday evening, and was knocked down and badly bruised by the journalist. The cause of the affair grew out of the charges that Bradfield made concerning Brower's immoral life while in Washington. Bradfield claims that Brower secured a position for a wanus from Naw York in the causus. North Carolina district, was assaulted tion for a woman from New York in the census bureau, stating at the time of her appointment that she was from North Carolina, and that she resided in the fifth district. Bradfield states further in his charges that Brower had not been to the Godfrey hotel, the place put down in the Record as Brower's boarding house since the holidays, and that since that date he has been living at 323 B street with this woman. Brower makes no denial of the charge of getting a position for this woman, but bitterly denies that he has been guilty of the immorality that Bradfield charges. The affair has caused much excitement in North Carolina, and especially in the fifth district. Brower's opponent thrusts these black charges into his teeth, and gets no answer. This late develop-ment will certainly defeat him, and Williams, the democratic nominee, will carry the district by 3000 various trees. by 3,000 majority.

A Verdict of Accidental Death.

CHARLESTON, S. C., October 14.—[Special.]
The body of Einest Dauer, a flagman on the South Carolina railway, was found cut in two on the tracks of the railway near Reed street today. It was a singular and awful death.
Dauer relieved the night flagman this morning, and nothing more was seen of him till his mutilated body was found lying on the track.
It had been run over by a freight train and shifting engine. The impression prevails that it was a case of suicide, but the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Treasurer Gibian. Macon. Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Mr. A. #### REV. SAM P. JONES

SPEAKS TO TWO CONGREGATIONS IN

He Takes for His Text the Parting Words of David to Solomon, and Discusses the Attributes of the Strong Man.

ROME, Ga., October 14.-[Special.]-The Methodists held two great services Sunday in their handsome Fourth avenue church. Great congregations attended both services. The ervices were very attractive.

Rev. Sam P. Jones delivered the morning sermon. So great was the congregation that the aisles of the church were completely filled with chairs, and many people could not even get into the church, but went to other churche of the city. Mr. Jones usually holds his services in Rome, in his tabernacle, but yesterday the taberanacle was filled with bales of cotton of the Howell Cotton Company.

The whole congregation joined in singing the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." Mr. Jones's text was: "Be thou strong, therefore, and shew thyself a man." Mr. Jones pictured the scene of the death of David, and his dying words to Solomon. He spoke of the character of a strong man-a character both positive and negative—that could give blows like a hammer, and could receive them like an anvil. A character like a man-of-war covered with steel that no ball could even dent. Yet it could sink nearly every other vessel affoat. Mr. Jones gave expression to many witticisms, and several times the congregation laughed without much re-

Mr. Jones, in speaking of prohibition, said: "If the north could fight to abolish slavery, cannot the prohibitionists fight on a moral question where more is involved? The speaker said the day would come when alcohol could no longer be the ruler of the country; that such a war was being waged, and that the demon would fall before it."

Mr. Jones told the anecdote of an old woman who said: "Well, I have a great many friends on both sides of this question and I am just going to remain nulsance, and my friends' people who don't stand anywhere are nuisances. The old woman was right. Among other things said in reference to pensioning 500,000 yankees, he said I told them up north if we had known we had wounded that many we would have made another

When he was north they told him at one place he could preach but he must not talk about politics. He replied that he was doing his own preaching, and that he owned his mouth, and if the didn't like what he said just point out the train and he would get aboard.

Mr. Jones said he was coming to Rome and help the prohibitionists fight next time the election came off. That he wanted to see churchmen take a stand. That in the United States there were 60,000,000 of ladies and gentlemen; but my, my, how few men and women! That we wanted more men and more women who would take a stand. That there was not a single peg-leg negro in Cartersville who didn't know how he stood on every moral question, and if you could find every moral question, and if you could find one who didn't know he would give him a wool hat.

Mr. Jones took up a collection for missions,

Art. Jones took up a contection for missions, and succeeded in raising a good amount.

Mr. Jones held the closest attention of all present. The humorous vein he was in brought forth peals of laughter such as never before had that new structure heard. Sam Jones is a great man in Rome.

HE WHIPPED THE NEGRO Because He Had Insulted a White Lady-

Fined $3 and Costs. FORT VALLEY, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Last Sunday Mr. I. N. Royal, of The Fort Valley Leader, sent a negro boy to the Postell house to bring his dinner. The negro Posteli house to bring his dinner. The negro returned, saying dinner was not ready yet, and would not be in some time. In a few minutes one of Miss Postell's waiters brought Mr. Royal his dinner, and a note from her saying the boy he sent for it had insulted her. Upon this information Mr. Royal secured a buggy whip and went in search of the insulting negro. Finding him, he wore the whip to a frazzle on him, and yesterday Mayor Hauser fined him $3 for disorderly conduct on the Sabbath day, saying under any other cir-cumstances he would have made the fine much heavier. Mr. Royal thanked him for his kindness, saying he would pay that amount any time to defend one of our fair ladies from the time to defend one of our fair ladies from the insults of any one, much less an impudent negro. For many good reasons the affair has been kept very quiet, fearing some one else who is willing to defend our fair ladies might want to imitate Mr. Royal's action, which is highly commended by every one who knows of the circumstance.

THE UNIVERSITY REPORTER.

Will No Longer Be Published at the State University. University.

Athens, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The students of the university had about decided to publish The University Reporter, their weekly journal, when the faculty now step in and refuse to let it be published. The faculty wishes the publication of a monthly magazine, which will give a wider field to the display of literary talent, and will present a way in which the student may better improve himself, in the art of journalism. The sentiment of the students is largely in favor of the issuing of The University Reporter weekly, but doubtless will have to yield to the request of the faculty.

The college journal is a means of much better training in journalism than one would ever suspect, and through its columns many a gifted pen first blazes out its pathway to fame. There is considerable literary talent among the university boys, and it will doubtless appear through the sparkling columns of the university magazine.

Mr. J. B. L. Smith, of Flovilla, will be the editor-in-chief, and Mr. W. W. Sheppard, of Hinesville, the business manager.

TO TEACH AN ELOCUTION CLASS.

Dr. J. G. Armstrong Will Give the Students

Elocution Lessons

Athens, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The students are highly pleased with Dr. Armstrong as a lecturer, and were perfectly carried away by his magnificent lecture on "Richard III," as were all who were present at the lecture. His presentation of the character of the man was simply superb. His recital of different passages from the great drama of Shakespeare was loudly encored by the audience. After the lecture, all of the students wanted to take elocution lessons from the doctor and a large class was formed which will be greatly increased when he comes over. It is pretty well settled that he will take charge of this class, and if he does the boys will be delighted. They would like for him to deliver his lecture on "Faust" once more over here. Crops Badly Injured. ATHENS, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—The farmers of this section are greatly distressed over the condition of their crops. The long and severe rains of last week have almost demoralized them, since they badly injured their cotton and also prevented them from picking it out, and thus threw them far behind in the marketing of their crops. Mr. George T. Murrell stated today that the farmers were in a terrible plight. Mr. Murrell is president of the Farmers' Alliance of Clarke county. It was thought today that a motion would be issued to adjourn the session of Clarke superior court in order to give the farmers the benefit of the pretty weather. It is not known what will be done as regards this matter.

The Professor Exhonerated.

ATHENS, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—
Professor J. C. Simmons, principal of the public schools of this city, has been exhonerated in the matter of whipping the child of Mr. W. L. Wood. The grievance committee met, examined the boy and reported to the board that it was the sense of the committee that: Professor Simmons be exhonerated. The board of schocation, in its meeting, adopted the report of the committee and exhonerated Frofessor

THE COTTON RECEIPTS Scratched 28 Years

SHOW THE WONDERFUL GROWTH OF AMERICUS.

A Gain of Thirty-Six Per Cent in One Year Gives Evidence that Americus Is Growing Very Solid.

AMERICUS, Ga., October 14.-[Special.]-The growth of business in Americus is shown by the comparative figures of cotton receipts by our warehouses and compresses.

On October 13, 1889, the cotton receipts to date were 21,230 bales; October 13, 1890, they were 28,863 bales, showing an increa-7,633 bales, or over 36 per cent.

This is not attributable to any difference in seasons in favor of this year; on the contrary, there has been a great deal more of unfavora-ble weather to date this year than last, the effect of which has been to retard picking. The outlook now is that the cotton receipts will reach 80,000 bales this season; as the better prices that are consequently paid, will naturally draw cotton from other erritory. Though no official action has yet been taken by the alliances, there is a strong disposition on the part of many alliancemen to hold back their cotton for better prices, especially those of freight from Americus are favorable than heretofore, and who are able to do so. In view of the activity of manufacturing all over the cotton world, and the short stocks at the beginning of this season, there is a belief that cotton ought to bring 10 cents in the in-terior markets; and that it will do so if not forced upon the market now, is having its weight in the minds of many intelligent farmers, and it need not surprise the public if the alliances in Georgia take the matter officially n hand and attempt to hold back a portion of the crop.

The Holiness People Go Home.

LAGRANGE, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—
Nearly all the delegates to the holiness convention, which has been in session here for the past week, have returned home. Large congregations attended the meetings and a great deal of interest was manifested in them. One notable feature of these meetings was the exhorations of the women, who came as delegates. Protracted meetings are being held at the Methodist church this week. Rev. A. J. Jarrell, the pastor, being assisted by Rev. Mr. Heuck, of Tennessee. The Holiness People Go Home.

Lagrange, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—
Two carloads of agricultural products have been forwarded to the Piedmont exposition by Mr. George W. Truitt. This exhibit will be one of the best individual displays at the exposition, and no doubt Mr. Truitt will be a successful contestant for one of the prizes offered by the management. A great many people from Troup will attend the exposition. Fire in Newberne.

NEWBERNE, N. C., October 14.—[Special.]—Duffy's frame building, corner Pollock and Middle streets, was partially destroyed at midnight. The drug stock is a total loss. The other losses are nominal. The loss on the stock is $6,000 to $7,000; insurance $3,500. Loss on building $4,000 to $5,000; insurance $2,500.

Improvements in Bremen. BREMEN, Ga., October 14.-[Special.]-The Georgia Pacific is increasing its business so rapidly that it has become necessary to put in additional side tracks to handle their trains. The work begins at once for a half-mile side-track here and a Y to turn on, so that this because the state of th comes a head of a section.

Run Over and Mashed. VIENNA, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Dick Forbes, a colored youth, was run over by two or three trains on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad Saturday night, and the horribly mangled remains were thrown into a cow gap, where they were found Sunday morning. He had been drunk and sat on the track, and it is supposed went to sleep.

Will Recover from His Wounds.

RINGGOLD, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]— Charles Helton, who was carved by Joe Quinn last night, while going home, will recover. The wound, which was dangerously near his heart, was a close shave. No arrests have yet been made. The Ferry Is Free!

LAGRANGE, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—
The county commissioners have leased Hairston's ferry, about nine miles southwest of LaGrange, on the Chattahoochee river, for another year, and the public may pass over it free during that time.

Congressman Grimes at Home. COLUMBUS, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—Congressman Thomas W. Grimes has returned from Washington, and after putting in a few good licks for Moses and the democracy, will settle down to the practice of law.

Chattahoochee Valley Exposition COLUMBUS, Ga., October 15 .- [Special.]-The general arrangements for the opening of the gates of the Chattahocchee Valley exposition on November 5th are about complete, and the indications are that the show will be one of the finest ever seen in the south.

Atlanta Enters Upon Her Gayest

CROWDS COMING TO SEE THE SHOW

Graves and Colquitt Will Speak

LET THE STORES ALL CLOSE.

Atlanta's gay season is here in full blast. The exposition opens today.

The Gate City has thrown open its gates to the people, and for the next two weeks there will be gay merriment within her walls. Atlanta is waving with abundant folds of bunting this morning, every street being bright with the exposition colors-red, Flags have been unfurled once more to celebrate the anniversary of Atlanta's gayest sea-son, and are floating with the October air today, nodding gayly over every store and waving from the doorway of every residence. Opening day is here! Let every citizen go to the grounds this morning. This is Atlanta Day out there, and Atlanta people should celebrate it in a grand and royal style. The visitors will expect to meet you on the grounds today, and your duty, as their host, demands your presence there to give them a cordial

The exposition will be opened with becoming pomp and style.
Fall Into Line!

The grandest parade ever seen in Atlanta will move off in the direction of Piedmont park early this morning. Colonel John Milledge, the officer of the day, will have charge of the procession.

The speeches of Mr. Graves and Senator Colquitt will be just what everybody expects them to be-gems of eloquence and sound with logic and purpose.

Mr. Graves will be at his best, and there are thousands of people who would feel repaid for their visit to the grounds just in the hearing of his speech. Senator Colquitt has few equals as an orator in the south|today, and that he will fully sustain his reputation today nobody doubts.

ien Mayor Glenn touches the button and starts the exposition humming, there will be life on the grounds that will throb with an impulse of enthusiasm at the success of the exposition from the very outset. The Directors' Meeting.

The exposition office was crowded last night with directors.

It was the last meeting of the board before

It was the last meeting of the board before the exposition opens, and it was an air of business that hovered over their deliberations.

The committee on races made a report that was surely encouraging in the extreme.

Mr. Joe Thompson, chairman of that committee, stated that there would be more than 150 of the finest horses on the track. They have come from the most famous stables in America, and there are among the horses many that are worth $10,000 and $15,600 each. The "cracks" of the American turf are here, and the races will be most excellent every day.

cellent every day. To Decorate Dwellings. The directors passed a resolution last night urging the merchant, and citizens to decorate every store and dwelling in Atlanta today. It is especially desired that every dwelling on Peachtree street should be gaudily dressed out in bunting and flags.

The people should all take up the movement until every street in the city is thick ment until every street in the city is thick with gay decorations.

Close Up the Stores.

Mayor Glenn has issued a proclamation requesting all merchants to close their stores today at 12 o'clock.

The directors also passed a resolution last night urging the merchants to unite in this endeavor to make the opening day the brilliant success it ought to be. Those firms which have in their enaploy young men who are members of the military companies a quested to allow these clerks to go out in time to take part in the parade which forms at 10 All of the railroads will close their offices

The Alliance Weddings.

The committee on arrangements for the cotton bagging weddings reported last night that four couples had been accepted. Two of the bridal costumes will be made and presented by J. Ryan and two by Chamberlin, The bridegroom's suits will be made and presented by Jerry Lynch, Miller & Collins and Anderson & Co.

These weddings will cause quite a little interest on alliance days, October 29th and 30th.

Capitalists Coming. The directors telegraphed an invitation to 500 capitalists from New York, Philadelphia and other northern cities last night. The men are now at Kensington, and are traveling through the south with a view of turning loose a few of their millions here. They travel in twenty-one steeping cars, and it is more than probable that they will come to Atlanta.

They will have a splendid opportunity here to witness the untold resources of the south.

Mail on the Grounds.

Mail on the Grounds. Street letter-boxes have been erected at the exposition grounds, and commencing today the carriers will make three daily deliveries exposition grounds, and commencing today the carriers will make three daily deliveries and four collections, excepting Sunday. Carriers delivering mail will leave the postoffice at 8:30 o'clock a.m., 12 o'clock m., and 2:45 o'clock p. m., and collections will be made from the boxes at the grounds at 9:30 o'clock a.m., 10 o'clock p. m., 3:45 o'clock p. m. and 5 o'clock a. m. and 10 o'clock a. m.

Parties desiring mail delivered at the grounds may secure it by notifying the carriers or leaving word at the postoffice.

Appointed Superintendents.

Captain Harry Hill has been appointed by President Wylie as one of the superintendents of the exposition, and is already hard at work. Mr. Jim English, Jr., has been appointed as superintendent of the entrance and gate department, and will have charge of this important feature of the exposition.

On the Grounds.

The exhibitors kept up their work on the grounds and through the buildings yesterday most vigorously.

There was noise and busy confusion in every quarter of the park, and the grounds were thick with laborers and visitors. Flags floated merrily from the pinnacles of every building and tent, while the clatter of the builder's hammer, the neigh of horses and the shouts of laborers gave the scene an air of liveliness.

Scene an air of liveliness.

Pawnee Bill, with his dozens of Indians and cowboys, was at work building cabins on the spacious lawn before the grand stand, which, shaded by little trees, were pictures a granding of the standard of the stan turesque to a surprising degree.

The Jewell brothers were at work preparing their great airships for the double balloon races which will take place today at 3 o'clock.

There are some beautiful exhibits ready for the opening in the main building. The exhibitions are among the finest over seen at any exposition.

parade today.

Colonel Milledge has arranged the following programme for the parade:

The line of infanity, with the exception of the thattalion of the Fourth Artillery, United States of America, will be formed on the south side of Marietta street, between Forsyth and Peachtree streets, at 10:30 o'clock a. m.

First.—The police battallon.
Second—The Zouave band.
Third.—The Fourth Georgia battallon.
Fourth—The Gordon Institute Cadets.
The cavairy will form across Marietta street on the east side of Forsyth street, leaving an interval between platoons for the passage of street cars until the column is ready to move.
The artillery will take position on North Broad street with the right resting on Marietta street.
When the battalion of the Fourth Artillery shall have reached the ground, which will be at 10:55 o'clock a. m., they will take position on the right of the police battalion and so complete the line of infantry.

At 11 o'clock the troops will move from Marietta o'clock a. m., they will take position on the right of the police battalion and so complete the line of infantry.

At 11 o'clock the troops will move from Marietta street to Peachtree street and out Peachtree street to the exposition grounds. On reaching the grounds the column will march around the track. The artiliery will halt when they reach a point on the back stretch opposite the grand stand and go into battery, with guns pointing in the direction of the main building. The column of infantry and cavalry will be halted until those in the carriages shall have allighted at the grand stand, when the column will pass in front of the grand stand marching in column of companies. When the lead of the column shall have reached the northern end of the grand stand a salute of forty-two guns will be fired by the artillery. As each command shall have passed the grand stand a distance of forty yards it will be considered under the separate command of its officers, and be dismissed from the parade. The carriages containing the officers of the exposition company, mayor of the city and orator of day will report at 10:39 a. m. sharp, to Mr. James W. English, Jr., at Beerman's corner, Peachtree and Decatur streets, and when the artillery shall have passed that point, will close into the line and be escorted to the grounds. On reaching the grounds, as the column marches to the right on the track, the carriages will proceed to the grand stand.

Lieutenant Colonel Commanding.

Many of the directors will also be in carriages along with the parade.

Today's Programme.

Today's Programme. 1. Prayer.
2. Mayor J. T. Glenn, as master of ceremonies, will introduce Hon. John Temple Graves and Senator A. H. Colquitt, who will deliver the opening addresses.
2. Mayor J. T. Glenn will touch the button to set the great engine in motion, thus awaking the entire grounds with the formal opening of the exposition.

4. At 1 o'clock sharp the wild west show, which is the greatest in the world, will take place.

5. The double balloon races and the parachute leaps, by the famous Jewell brothers, will take place at 3 o'clock.

6. Pawnee Bill, with the cowboys and Indians, will again appear before the grand stand at 7:30 o'clock, p. m.

To Exposition Advertisers.

Marchents and others who desire to reach

Merchants and others who desire to reach the visitors to the Piedment exposition should advertise in the official programme, which is distributed every day on the exposition

There is no better way of bringing your busi-ess before the thousands of strangers now in ur city.
Parties having handbills to distribute should apply to the publishers of The Programme.

The distribution of circulars will be attended to on reasonable terms. Apply to Harris & Wilson, Constitution job office, or at their office in the agricultural hall on the grounds. Surprised the "400."

May Lillie, wife of Pawnee Bill, will be an object of especial interest on the grounds. The Cleveland papers tell a most interesting story about her while in that city. While there she was presented with a handsome gold-mounted riding whip, and the following evening was invited to attend a swell carnival and fancy dress ball. She was determined to get the prize for the handsomest costume, and thus surprise the "400" of Cleveland. Putting on her Indian princess dress—a gown that Pocahontas would have envied—Miss Lillie mounted her mustang pony, rode to the portals of the ball room and into the rooms with all the fashion—

She caused a pleasant sensation by her sudden entree, and was put at the lead of the march. The pony and its rider, who had in part days chased the wild savage in his western home, led the bejewelled queens of Cleveland's society, and May Lillie was given a handsome prize.

AT THE THEATER.

If a strong drama, capable cast and fair mounting of scenery are composites of a good play, "The Fair Rebel," as played at DeGive's last evening, merits very favorable mention. "The Fair Rebel" touches a page in the war history, the incidents of the plot being within universal range of sympathies. The acting was on all sides above the average, and many of the scenes were enacted with a charming and effective manner. Mr. Ed R. Mawson, Misses Leslie Tillson, Fanny Gillette and Relle Rucklin deserves special mention for their conscientious rendering of their respective roles.

Mr. Mawson is free from many of the usual vices of actors, and seldom forgets a well-planned economy of emotion. His voice is sonorous and supple, while his gesture has an effective spontaniety. Miss Fanny Gillette is possessor of a noble talent. Her acting upon receiving the news of her father's death is rendered with such a simple dramatic art that the scene is of great credit to her. dramatic art that the scene is of great credit oner. At other times in the play, Miss Gillette betrayed some little staginess, although not of a serious character. Miss Bucklin sang several songs with a rare grace and conscientious spirit Without catering directly to the gallery, her warm and sympathetic voice provoked hearty applause. Mr. Walter J. Brooks made a good viscomte, as well as an unaffected villian. His personating the Frenchman was at times exceedingly clever. The play evinced a careful preparation and the frequent applause was well deserved. The house was only fair, but "The Fair Rebel" is worthy of good patronage.

The play will be repeated at matinee and tonight.

The Great Metropolis. One night last week an editor of The Cincinnati Enquirer dropped in at Havlin's theater and met Manager Havlin in the lobby. The next day The Cincinnati Enquirer published the following,

Cincinnati Enquirer published the following, which speaks for itself:

Manager Havlin rarely talks about the attractions that come to his house, and when he does what he says may be relied upon. Last night the forthcoming engagement of "The Great Metropolis" was being discussed by a party of gentlemen in the lobby of the theater, when Mr. Havlin said: "While I believe that the quality of the attractions that play here finds favor with my patrons generally. I am sure "The Great Metropolis" will prove particularly pleasing. There is no question as to the high character of the play itself, and, for my part, I have never seen a drama more elaborately or perfectly put upon the stage anywhere.

The company carries every particle of scenery used in the production, and I know that Brady and Welty would not send an organization upon the road that was not strictly first-class in every respect. Such productions as this are rarely seen anywhere, and I am naturally glad to have it in my theater. I shall be yry much surprised if the business next week does not equal, at least, that of any week of the season.

Mr. Havlin's patrons appear to share this opinion, judging from the present condition of the advance sale. "The Great Metropolis" drew enormous crowds at the same house last January, and there is no mistaking the impression it created. It is a truly splendid play, magnifecently produced. "The Great Metropolis" will be presented at De-created. It is a traity spiedule play, magnineently produced.

"The Great Metropolis" will be presented at De-Give's opera house Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matines. They will present the same great cast and same marvelous scenic effects that popularized this great play at New York.

GONE FOR MISS ADAIR.

Chief Connolly Sends an Officer to Birmingham for Her. Miss Della Adair, who ran away from home with Louis Avant last Sunday, will be brought back to her parents today.

Mr. Adair, her father, has been confined to his bed with illness for some time past, and for that reason he has not been able to come to Atlanta from Forest Station, his home, to look

Atlanta from Forest Station, his home, to look after his wayward daughter.

Mr. Mayo, the brother-in-law, has been looking after the matter, however, and according to his instructions Chief Connolly sent Officer Terry to Birmingham to bring Miss Adair back to Atlants.

Avant will be released. No warrant was taken out for him for kidnapping, as was originally intended.

Miss Adair will return to Atlanta with the officer and go back to her home.

So terminates her romantic escapade with the gay young picture-copying artist.

ITEMS OF PERTINENT INTEREST GATHERED UP.

What the People of the City Are Saying and Doing—Events Which Are Past and Some to Come.

Back After Twenty Years .- Mr. L. M. Harris, prominent business man of Springfield, O., is in the city, a guest of his brother, Colonel A. L. Harris. Mr. Harris will take in the exposition and greet some old friends in the city, as he was a citizens of Atlanta twenty years ago.

Crysanthemum Growers.—The presence of a number of crysanthemum growers is expected at the meeting of the Atlanta Horticultural society this morning. It has been suggested that the floral fair be held at Inman park under a large tent. The matter will be fully discussed today.

The Presbyterian Ladies.-The ladies of the Central Presbyterian church will furnish some of the finest lunches to be found on the exposition grounds. They have secured a counter at the west end of the dairy building, and will be there during the exposition ready to serve their visitors with the most delicious eatables to be round on the grounds, most temptingly prepared and served.

A Painting With a History .- Mr. A. G. Daniel, of the Southern Alliance Farmer, has a picture that is known far and wide. He has had it thirty-five years, and has refused a cool thousand for it many a time. The picture is a painting of a woman, and she is thought to be one of the of a woman, and she is thought to be one of the old Irish nobility. The picture is quaint in its every feature. It is framed rudely, the corners being pointed with wooden pegs. An artist at the Cincinnait art exposition classed the picture with the best productions of a period more than a century ago. Mr. Daniel bought it from an old Irishman almost for a song thirty-five years ago. Here's a picture the exposition art hall ought to get by all means.

Resetting the Clock .- In winding the town clock on the county courthouse last Saturday it was wound up a little too closely, so that the hands were set forward seven minutes. The change was discovered and remedied yesterday, and the staid and sturdy old timer that has been behaving so nicely, was put back on time. The friends of the faithful clock, who teared that it was getting to be fast and frivolous, breathed a sigh of relief when they saw that it was 12 o'clock and all was

A Pair of Accidents.—Jim Walker, a negro drayman, had his leg broken yesterday morning. He was sitting on a dray in front of Colonel Mynatt's residence, on Peachtree street, when he was broken and a gash cut on his head. The city ambulance was called and the negro taken to the Providence infirmary, where his wounds were Another accident happened to one of the Georgia Another accident happened to one of the Georgia Ice Company's wagons.

The driver, John Kink, was delivering an order of ice, when the mule attached to the wagon be-came frightened and ran away. The wagon was badly mashed up, and a case was booked against the driver for carelessness.

Northern Society.—An enthusiastic number of members of this society met at the rooms yesterday noon to complete arrangements for "Northern Day," and the balance of the week.

A neat ribbon badge was adopted, it being the badge of the society, the coat of arms of Georgia, surrounded by emblems of industry and products of different parts of the union. A reception committee will meet each train on Thursday, and a committee of ladies and gentle-men will be at the rooms of the society in Capitol block during the day and week to welcome all A meeting of the executive committee will be held today at 4 o'clock.

A Strange Scene .- "There comes Senator

"Look out for your Uncle Joseph!" "He is still young enough to exercise the right of franchise, and patriotic enough to stand up for his prerogative as a free American citizen." These were the remarks made by a crowd of ward-workers yesterday, as a carriage stopped in front of the second ward precinct, which is in the basement of the Fulton county courthouse, and a basement of the Fulton county courthouse, and a tall, gray-haired, gray-whiskered man stepped out, supported by a stout negro servant. It was Senator Joseph E. Brown come to vote. The ward-workers by common consent gathered around him, and a dozen hands, with as many combinations of ballots, were thrust in front of the distinguished Georgian, offering him his choice, and preins him in the neculiarly instinachoice, and urging him in the peculiarly insinuating and persuasive style of the heeler, to stand by his friends.

With the urbanity that has characterized him all through his long and remarkable life, Senator Brown took a ballot from each, looked at them one by one, and with a smile and a bow descended the stone steps, holbing the batch in his hands as carefully as if he intended to vote every one of them.

But nobody knews yet how and for whom he voted.

cathedral at 10 o'clock.

The reception to members by the ladies' anxiliary grows. Every member is invited to bring with him a gentleman friend. The ladies are sparing no pains to make this reception delight full in every respect. They will receive, entertain with a short programme, and then serve refreshments. A large number of new members have joined the association, and this is the special opportunity for acquaintance between old and new members. It is urged that all be present and prepared to enjoy a pleasant evening on Thursday.

RICHMOND, Va., October 14.—[Special.]—Rev. Archibald Alexander Little, pastor of the Gordonsville, Va.. Presbyterian church, and Miss Nannie Gordon Scott, an accomplished and pretty society lady of this city, were married this evening at the Second Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. Hoge, of the Second Presbyterian, officiated. Senator William A. Little, Jr., brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Fortune Scott was maid of honor. The bride was dressed in white faille with orange blossoms, and her sister wore her mother's wedding dress of lace and silk. After a reception the couple left for the north.

Pure, Brilliant, Perfect. Authentic Living Testimonials from Distinguished Generals and Statesmen

In Favor of Hawkes' New Crystallized Lenses Over All Others.

Testimonials from the leading physicians in the United States, governers, senators, legislators, stockmen, men of note in all professions and in different branches of trade, bankers, mechanics, etc., can be given who have had their sight improved by their use.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES Are an important part to be considered in the se-lection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection. We give a few illustrations of perfect and im-perfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

Figures 4 and 5 represent incorrect fitting eyeglasses.

IMITATIONS.

The market is full of imitations, represented to be the same as Hawkes' new crystallized lenses. These imitations are, in most cases, productive of positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

Manufacturing Department. We are now prepared to MAKE TO ORDER spectacles and eye-glasses of every description, which will be equal in finish and workmanship to any glasses made in the United States. Oculists' prescriptions will be filled with accuracy and EVERY PAIR WARRANTED.

THE GREAT GATES SWING OPEN,

AND THE EXPOSITION IS THE RULE.

Atlanta Enters Upon Her Gayest Season.

CROWDS COMING TO SEE THE SHOW.

Graves and Colquitt Will Speak Today.

LET THE STORES ALL CLOSE.

Atlanta's gay season is here in full blast. The exposition opens today.

The Gate City has thrown open its gates to the people, and for the next two weeks there will be gay merriment within her walls.

Atlanta is waving with abundant folds of bunting this morning, every street being bright with the exposition colors—red, white and blue.

Flags have been unfurled once more to celebrate the anniversary of Atlanta's gayest season, and are floating with the October air today, nodding gayly over every store and waving from the doorway of every residence.

Opening day is here! Let every citizen go to the grounds this morning. This is Atlanta Day out there, and Atlanta people should celebrate it in a grand and royal style. The visitors will expect to meet you on the grounds today, and your duty, as their host, demands your presence there to give them a cordial

The exposition will be opened with becoming pomp and style.

Fall Into Line! The grandest parade ever seen in Atlanta will move off in the direction of Pledmont park early this morning. Colonel John Milledge, the officer of the day, will have charge of the procession.

The speeches of Mr. Graves and Senator Colonitt will be just what everybody expects them to be-gems of eloquence and sound with logic and purpose.

Mr. Graves will be at his best, and there are thousands of people who would feel repaid for their visit to the grounds just in the hearing of his speech. Senator Colquitt has few equals as an orator in the south|today, and that he will fully sustain his reputation today

When Mayor Glenn touches the button and starts the exposition humming, there will be life-on the grounds that will throb with an impulse of enthusiasm at the success of the exposition from the very outset. The Directors' Meeting.

The exposition office was crowded last night The exposition office was crowded has light with directors.

It was the last meeting of the board before the exposition opens, and it was an air of business that hovered over their deliberations.

The committee on races made a report that

The committee on races made a report that was surely encouraging in the extreme.

Mr. Joe Thompson, chairman of that committee, stated that there would be more than 150 of the finest horses on the track. They have come from the most famous stables in America, and there are among the horses many that are worth $10,000 and $15,000 each. The "cracks" of the American turf are here, and the races will be most excellent every day.

To Decorate Dwellings.

The directors passed a resolution last night

To Decorate Dwellings.

The directors passed a resolution last night urging the merchant, and citizens to decorate every store and dwelling in Atlanta today. It is especially desired that every dwelling on Peachtree street should be gaudily dressed out in bunting and flags.

The people should all take up the movement until every street in the city is thick with gay decorations.

Close Up the Stores.

Mayor Glenn has issued a proclamation requesting all merchants to close their stores today at 12 o'clock.

The directors also passed a resolution last

The directors also passed a resolution last night urging the merchants to unite in this endeavor to make the opening day the brilliant success it ought to be. Those firms which have in their employ young men who are members of the military companies are requested to allow these clerks to go out in time to take part in the parade which forms at 10 cleak. All of the railroads will close their offices

The Alliance Weddings.

The committee on arrangements for the cotton bagging weddings reported last night that four couples had been accepted. Two of the bridal costumes will be made and presented by J. Ryan and two by Chamberlin, Johnson & Co.

The bridegroom's suits will be made and presented by Jerry Lynch, Miller & Collins and Anderson & Co.

These weddings will cause quite a little interest on alliance days, October 29th and 30th.

Capitalists Coming. The directors telegraphed an invitation to 500 capitalists from New York, Philadelphia and other northern cities last night. The men and other northern cities last night. The men are now at Kensington, and are traveling through the south with a view of turning loose a few of their millions here. They travel in twenty-one sleeping cars, and it is more than probable that they will come to Atlanta.

They will have a splendid opportunity here to witness the untold resources of the south.

Mail on the Grounds. Street letter-boxes have been erected at the exposition grounds, and commencing today the carriers will make three daily deliveries the carriers will make three daily deliveries and four collections, excepting Sunday. Carriers delivering mail will leave the postoffice at 8:30 o'clock a. m., 12 o'clock m., and 2:45 o'clock p. m., and collections will be made from the boxes at the grounds at 9:30 o'clock a. m., 1 o'clock p. m., 3:45 o'clock p. m. and 5 o'clock p. m. Appointed Superintendents.

Captain Harry Hill has been appointed by President Wylie as one of the superintendents of the expessition, and is already hard at work.

of the exposition, and is already hard at work.
Mr. Jim English, Jr., has been appointed as superintendent of the entrance and gate department, and will have charge of this important feature of the exposition.

On the Grounds.

On the Grounds.

The exhibitors kept up their work on the grounds and through the buildings yesterday most vigorously.

There was noise and busy confusion in every quarter of the park, and the grounds were thick with laborers and visitors. Flags floated merrily from the pinnacles of every building and tent, while the clatter of the builder's hammer, the neigh of horses and the shouts of laborers gave the scene an air of liveliness.

Pawnee Bill, with his dozens of Indians and cowboys, was at work building cabins on the spacious lawn before the grand stand, which, shaded by little trees, were picturesque to a surprising degree.

stand, which, shaded by little trees, were picturesque to a surprising degree.

The Jewell brothers were at work preparing their great airships for the double balloon races which will take place today at 3 o'clock. There are some beautiful exhibits ready for the opening in the main building. The exhibitions are among the finest over seen at any exposition.

Colonel Milledge has arranged the following programme for the parade:

The line of infanty, with the exception of the battalion of the Fourth Artillery, United States of America, will be formed on the south side of Marietta street, between Forsyth and Peachtree streets, at 10:30 o'clock a.m.

First—The police battalion.
Second—The Zouave band.

Third—The Fourth Georgia battalion.
Fourth—The Gordon Institute Cadets.

The cavalry will form across Marietta street on the east side of Forsyth street, leaving an interval between platoons for the passage of street cars until the column is ready to move.

The artillery will take position on North Broad street with the right resting on Marietta street.

When the battalion of the Fourth Artillery shall have reached the ground, which will be at 10:55 o'clock a.m., they will take position on the right of the police battalion and so complete the line of infantry.

At 11 o'clock the troops will move from Marietta of the police battalion and so complete the line of infantry.

At 11 o'clock the troops will move from Marietta street to Peachtree street and out Peachtree street to the exposition grounds. On reaching the grounds the column will march around the track. The artillery will halt when they reach a point on the back stretch opposite the grand stand and go into battery, with guns pointing in the direction of the main building. The column of Infantry and cavalry will be haited until those in the carriages shall have allghted at the grand stand, when the column will pass in front of the grand stand, when the column will pass in front of the grand stand marching in column of companies. When the head of the column shall have reached the northern end of the grand stand as alute of forty-two guns will be fired by the artillery. As each command shall have passed the grand stand a distance of forty yards it will be considered under the separate command of its officers, and be dismissed from the parade. The carriages containing the officers of the exposition company, mayor of the city and orator of day will report at 10.39 a. m. sharp, to Mr. James W. English, Jr., at Beerman's corner, Peachtree and Decatur streets, and when the artillery shall have passed that point, will close into the line and be escorted to the grounds. On reaching the grounds, as the column marches to the right on the track, the carriages will proceed to the grand stand.

Lieutenant Colonel Commanding.

Parties having handbills to distribute should apply to the publishers of The Programme.

The distribution of circulars will be attended to on reasonable terms. Apply to Harris & Wilson, Constitution job office, or at their office in the agricultural hall on the grounds. Surprised the "400."

May Lillie, wife of Pawnee Bill, will be an object of especial interest on the grounds. The Cleveland papers tell a most interesting story about her while in that city. While there she was presented with a handsome gold-mounted riding whip, and the following evening was invited to attend a swell carnival and fancy dress ball. She was determined to get the prize for the handsomest costume, and thus surprise the "400" of Cleveland. Putting on her In-dian princess dress—a gown that Pocahontas would have envied—Miss Lillie mounted her mustang pony, rode to the portals of the ball room and into the rooms with all the fashionables.

She caused a pleasant sensation by her sudden entree, and was put at the lead of the march. The pony and its rider, who had in part days chased the wild savage in his western home, led the bejewelled queens of Cleveland's society, and May Lillie was given a handsome prize.

AT THE THEATER.

If a strong drama, capable cast and fair mounting of scenery are composites of a good play, "The Fair Rebel," as played at DeGive's last evening, merits very favorable mention.

"The Fair Rebel" touches a page in the war history, the incidents of the plot being within universal range of sympathies. The acting was on all sides above the average, and many of the cenes were enacted with a charming and effective manner. Mr. Ed R. Mawson, Misses Leslie Tillson, Fanny Gillette and Belle Bucklin deserves special mention for their conscientious rendering of their respective roles. Mr. Mawson is free from many of the usual vices. of actors, and seldom forgets a well-planned economy of emotion. His voice is sonorous and supple, while his gesture has an effective sponnoble talent. Her acting upon receiving the news of her father's death is rendered with such a simple dramatic art that the scene is of great credit to her. At other times in the play, Miss Gillette betrayed some little staginess, although not of a serious character. Miss Bucklin sang several songs with a rare grace and conscientious spirit Without catering directly to the gallery, her warm and sympathetic voice provoked hearty applause. Mr. Walter J. Brooks made a good viscomte, as well as an unaffected villian. His personating the Frenchman was at times exceedingly clever. The play evinced a careful preparation and the frequent applause was well deserved. The house was only fair, but "The Fair Rebel" is worthy of good patronage.

The play will be repeated at matinee and

The Great Metropolis. One night last week an editor of The Cincinnati Enquirer dropped in at Havlin's theater and met Manager Havlin in the lobby. The next day The Cincinnati Enquirer published the following, which speaks for itself:

Cincinnati Enquirer published the following, which speaks for itself:
Manager Haviin rarely talks about the attractions that come to his house, and when he does what he says may be relied upon. Last night the forthcoming engagement of "The Great Metropolis" was being discussed by a party of gentlemen in the lobby of the theater, when Mr. Havlin said: "While I believe that the quality of the attractions that play here finds favor with my patrons generally. I am sure "The Great Metropolis" will prove particularly pleasing. There is no question as to the high character of the play itself, and, for my part, I have never seen a drama more elaborately or perfectly put upon the stage anywhere.

The company carries every particle of scenery used in the production, and I know that Brady and Welty would not send an organization upon the road that was not strictly first-class in every respect. Such productions as this are rarely seen anywhere, and I am naturally glad to have it in my theater. I shall be yry much surprised if the business next week does not equal, at least, that of any week of the season.

Mr. Havlin's patrons appear to share this opinion, judging from the present condition of the advance sale. "The Great Metropolis" diew enormous crowds at the same house last January, and there is no mistaking the impression it created. It is a truly splendid play, magniticently produced.

"The Great Metropolis" will be presented at De-produced.

"The Great Metropolis" will be presented at De-Give's opera house Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matines. They will present the same great cast and same marvelous scenic effects that popularized this great play at New York.

GONE FOR MISS ADAIR.

Chief Connolly Sends an Officer to Birmingham for Her.

Miss Della Adair, who fan away from home

with Louis Avant last Sunday, will be brought back to her parents today.

Mr. Adair, her father, has been confined to his bed with illness for some time past, and for that reason he has not been able to come to Atlanta from Forest Station, his home, to look

Atlanta from Forest Station, his home, to look after his wayward daughter.

Mr. Mayo, the brother-in-law, has been looking after the matter, however, and according to his instructions Chief Connelly sent Officer Terry to Birmingham to bring Miss Adair back to Atlanta.

Avant will be released. No warrant was taken out for him for kidnapping, as was originally intended.

Miss Adair will return to Atlanta with the officer and go back to her home.

So terminates her romantic escapade with the gay young picture-copying artist.

OUR NOTEBOOK.

ITEMS OF PERTINENT INTEREST GATHERED UP.

What the People of the City Are Saying and Doing-Events Which Are Past and Some to Come.

Back After Twenty Years .- Mr. L. M. Harris, prominent business man of Springfield, O., is in the city, a guest of his brother, Colonel A. L. Harris. Mr. Harris will take in the exposition and greet some old friends in the city, as he was a citizens of Atlanta twenty years ago. Crysanthemum Growers.-The presence of a number of crysanthemum growers is expected at the meeting of the Atlanta Horticultural ociety this morning. It has been suggested that the floral fair be held at Inman park under a large tent. The matter will be fully discussed today. The Presbyterian Ladies.—The ladies of the Central Presbyterian church will furnish some of the finest lunches to be found on the exposition grounds: They have secured a counter at the west end of the dairy building, and will be there during the exposition ready to serve their visitors with the most delicious catables to be found on the grounds, most temptingly prepared and served. A Painting With a History.—Mr. A. G. Daniel, of the Southern Alliance Farmer, has a picture that is known far and wide. He has had it thirtyfive years, and has refused a cool thousand for it nve years, and has refused a cool thousand for it many a time. The picture is a painting of a woman, and she is thought to be one of the old Irish nobility. The picture is quaint in its every feature. It is framed rudely, the corners being pointed with wooden pegs. An artist at the Cincinnati art exposition classed the picture with the best productions of a period more than a century ago. Mr. Daniel bought it from an old Irishman almost for a sone thirty-flee years ago. rishman almost for a song thirty-five years ago.

Resetting the Clock.-In winding the town clock on the county courthouse last Saturday it was wound up a little too closely, so that the hands were set forward seven minutes. The change was discovered and remedied yesterday, and the staid and sturdy old timer that has been behaving so nicely, was put back on time. The friends of the faithful clock, who reared that it was getting to be fast and frivolous, breathed a sigh of relief when they saw that it was 12 o'clock and all was

A Pair of Accidents .- Jim Walker, a negro A Pair of Accidents.—Jim Waiker, a negro drayman, had his leg broken yesterday morning. He was sitting on a dray in front of Colonel Mynatt's residence, on Peachtree street, when he fell asleep and fell off. In the fall his right leg was broken and a gash cut on his head. The city ambulance was called and the negro taken to the Providence infirmary, where his wounds were ressed.

Another accident happened to one of the Georgia Ice Company's wagons.
The driver, John Kink, was delivering an order of ice, when the mule attached to the wagon be-came frightened and ran away. The wagon was badly mashed up, and a case was booked against the driver for carelessness.

Northern Society.-An enthusiastic number of members of this society met at the rooms yester-day noon to complete arrangements for "Northern Day," and the balance of the week.

A neat ribbon badge was adopted, it being the badge of the society, the coat of arms of Georgia, surrounded by emblems of industry and products of different parts of the union. A reception committee will meet each train on Thursday, and a committee of ladies and gentlenen will be at the rooms of the society in Capitol block during the day and week to visitors. A meeting of the executive committee will be held today at 4 o'clock.

A Strange Scene .- "There comes Senato

"Look out for your Uncle Joseph!" "He is still young enough to exercise the right of franchise, and patriotic enough to stand up for is prerogative as a free American citizen.' These were the remarks made by a crowd of These were the remarks made by a crowd or ward-workers yesterday, as a carriage stopped in front of the second ward precinct, which is in the basement of the Fulton county courthouse, and a tall, gray-haired, gray-whiskered man stepped out, supported by a stout negro servant.

It was Senator Joseph E. Brown come to vote. The ward-workers by common consent gathered.

The ward-workers by common consent gathered around him, and a dozen hands, with as many combinations of ballots, were thrust in front of the distinguished Georgian, offering him his choice, and urging him in the peculiarly insinua-ting and persuasive style of the heeler, to stand by his friends. With the urbanity that has characterized him all through his long and remarkable life Senator Brown took a ballot from each looked at them one by one, and with a smile and a bow descended the stone steps, holbing the batch in his hands as carefully as if he intended to vote every one of them.

cathedral at 10 o'clock.

The reception to members by the ladies' auxiliary grows. Every member is invited to bring with him a gentleman friend. The ladies are sparing no pains to make this reception delight fu in every respect. They will receive, entertain with a short programme, and then serve refreshments. A large number of new members have joined the association, and this is the special opportunity for acqua'ntance between old and new members. It is urged that all be present and prepared to enjoy a pleasant evening on Thursday.

RICHMOND, Va., October 14.—[Special.]—Rev. Archibald Alexander Little, pastor of the Gordonsville, Va., Presbyterian church, and Miss Nannie Gordon Scott, an accomplished and pretty society lady of this city, were married this evening at the Second Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. Hoge, of the Second Presbyterian, officiated. Senator William A. Little, Jr., brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Fortune Scott was maid of honor. The bride was dressed in white faille with orange blossoms, and her sister wore her mother's wedding dress of lace and silk. After a reception the couple left for the north.

Authentic Living Testimonials from Distinguished Generals and Statesmen In Favor of Hawkes' New Crystallized

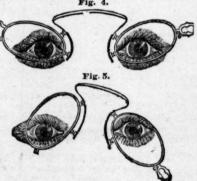

Lenses Over All Others.

Testimonials from the leading physicians in the United States, governers, senators, legislators, stockmen, men of note in all professions and in different branches of trade, bankers, mechanics, etc., can be given who have had their sight improved by their use.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES Are an important part to be considered in the se-lection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection. We give a few illustrations of perfect and im-perfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

Figures 4 and 5 represent incorrect fitting eye-glasses.

IMITATIONS. The market is full of imitations, represented the same as Hawkes' new crystallized These imitations are, in most cases, productive or positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

Manufacturing Department. We are now prepared to MAKE TO ORDER spectacles and eye-glasses of every description, which will be equal in finish and workmanship to any glasses made in the United States. Oculists' prescriptions will be filled with accuracy and dispatch.

ATLANTA, GA., OCTOBER 15, 1890.

The Exposition's Opening Day. The Piedmont exposition opens today It starts under the most favorable auspices. The exhibits are worth traveling a thousand miles to see, and the great show will long be remembered as an object-lesson, teaching the outside world the value and extent of the marvelous resources of this region.

Visitors will be here today, and every day for the next two weeks, in such hosts as have been rarely seen, even in this city. What remains to be done to make the exposition a brilliant success must be done by the people of Atlanta.

Our people must turn out today in force, and inaugurate the big show. The merchants should close their doors early this morning, and the clerks who are to take part in the military parade should be granted leave of absence by their employers for the day. The opening of the exposition this year will be unusually attractive, and no efforts have been spared to make the programme entertaining and instructive.

The opening day will be one of the best days of the season, and our citizens cannot afford to miss it. Let us lay aside the cares of business and enjoy a holiday long to be remembered. Let us finish the work of decorating the city in the early morning hours, and then go out to the grounds with the thousands of strangers who are here to see the sights.

Don't wait for another day. The opening of the third Piedmont exposition is a notable event, and those who miss it will regret it.

Mr. Halstead's "If."

When it comes to making a ponderous point, Editor Murat Halstead, who is editing a country paper in Brooklyn, while waiting for a congressional vindication of J. B. Foraker, is not easily surpassed. As a specimen, we print the following, which is worthy of attention:

If it be true that the McKinley tariff is simply a vast scheme of taxing the people in behalf of monopolisis, and to provide for trusts sheltered analysis and to provide for trusts sheltered against foreign competition, and if the American consumers are to repay the revenue poured into the custom houses by the importers, why are the people of other nations interested at all? What are they complaining about in Germany, England, France, Spain and Canada? If the American people are taxing themselves for the help of the prolists, why should the European and Cana they got to retaliate about?

This is excrutiating. No one knows better than Mr. Halstead that even under the heavy schedules of the war tariff there was a market here for certain lines of foreign goods. Now that these markets have been shut off, it is natural that the foreign manufacturers should feel an interest in the mat-

But what does their interest amount to compared with that of the people of this country, out of whose pockets come the increased taxation levied by the McKinley law-a law that was framed by the millionaire manufacturers and monopolists exclusively in their own interest. The people-the tax-payers-those on whom the burden of this most iniquitous law must fall, were not consulted at all.

It may be true that many dealers, taking advantage of the ignorance of their customers, may make a fraudulent use of the new law in charging higher prices for their goods, but they cannot deceive the newspapers. Mr. Halstead knows as well as anyone, how ever, that there is an advance in all lines of goods that have been touched by the McKinley tariff, and he knows, too, that this advance is in the nature of a tax on the people who buy.

The advertisements and circulars of the wholesale and retail dealers of the country tell the whole infamous story of robbery that passes under the name of taxation. Mr. Halstead and his party may be able to deceive the people in this matter, but if they succeed then the people deserve to be

Some Lottery Literature.

There are some curious phases about the new lottery law to which The New Orleans Times-Democrat invites attention. It is evident that the law is being enforced in the south, but the north and west are paying very little attention to it.

It is said that in Sioux City, Ia., they are running a lottery for the benefit of the great Corn Palace, and that the postoffice department has entered no protest.

Attention is also called to the fact Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper is running an advertisement of a German lottery, which has offices in New York, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis. In reference to this The Times-Democrat says:

Times-Democrat says:

This advertisement has been running in Frank Leslie's ever since the anti-lottery law was passed, and is still running. It has not caused the postoffice department to interfere with the paper in the mails. Why? Because it is published in the north, and the law is intended to be operated only in this section, and because Frank Leslie's is a values; remphisem many and is run, singly by stalwart republican paper and is run jointly by Russell Harrison, the president's son, and Arkell, the editor of Judge and a prominent man in the republican party. The law has been violated a thousand times by the president's son, but not one of his papers has been stopped, and he is, apparently, authorized to go on publishing any lottery advertisement he sees fit and sending it through the mails. The new law is for the south. and the south alone, intended to be used, as in the case of The States a few days ago, to shut out, on ped up charges, any democratic papers which

In discussing the lottery law recently, when it first went into effect, we stated that it was different from other laws, in that it was being enforced. This opinion was the result of the active work of the postoffice department in seizing the editions of southern newspapers and arresting editors who had violated the law. But it is evident now that the law is entirely sectional, and that these arrests and seizures for its violation are confined to the south alone. The law, as it relates to lotteries, should be strictly enforced everywhere. But in this connection, the grace which is given to republican newspapers, and other enterprises under republican patronage, is another evidence of that unjust and partisan spirit which has made the postmaster general notorious.

Posing as the censor of the press, he tumbles the editions of southern newspapers out of his mails because they contain legitimate inducements to subscribers, but permits the publication of genuine lottery advertisements in republican newspapers, which pass unchallenged through the mails.

Safety in the One-Term Rule.

Macon and Augusta are considerably exercised on the subject of municipal reform, and in the latter city a committee of one hundred has undertaken to formulate a plan which will insure good government. In all that is done in good faith for that laudable purpose, THE CONSTITUTION sympathizes heartily, but we observe some suggestions which, if adopted, are likely to lead to trouble

With all due respect to the judgment and partisanism of the gentlemen who propose it, we can see no good in making the head of the municipal government eligible for a second term. Atlanta has enjoyed good government under the one-term rule, and she will be loth to change her practice. From this her neighbors will do well to learn a lesson. The continuation of a man or set of men in office increases the power of patronage-a power which is often used against the public interest when the knowledge of further eligibility to office makes the use of it for personal ends an object, No city in Georgia is so poor in municipal timber that it has to keep one stick there till it rots. It is our observation that in the control of city affairs two or three terms give rise to trouble which the one-term rule

A Great Favorite.

Colonel William Moore, of The Augusta Evening News, who is a prominent "law and order member of society," announces in a formal way that he is horrified because the late Rube Burrows expressed a preference for THE CONSTITUTION among the daily newspapers of the land; and he adds to his announcement the statement that he confidently expects us to disclaim the tribute with its accompanying headline, describing Reuben as a man of sense and discrimination so far as his taste for newspapers was concerned.

Well, we cannot permit ourselves to treat with disdain this redeeming feature of the outlaw's career. Wherever he went, ac cording to report, he carried with him copies of THE CONSTITUTION. He seems to have been a very busy man, rushing hither and yonder, pursued awhile and now pursuing, capturing here and eluding capture there. He probably had no time to devote to the real study and contemplation of the lessons that THE CONSTITUTION daily conveys to its thousands of readers. No doubt he gave it a mere cursory perusal, hunting about in it for the nuggets of news that are interesting alike to the just and the unjust.

It is to be regretted that the dead outlaw had no more time to devote to THE CONSTI-TUTION and its contents-no more leisure to study the moral that is conveyed in every news sensation, and clinched in the running comments that appear. Such a newspaper as THE CONSTITUTION, rightly read and studied, is a great moral teacher, for in the current news of the day, rightly presented, the vilest sinner may learn that justice cannot long be evaded, and that though punishment may come not swiftly, it comes one the less surely. Hardened as he was, the fact that Rube Burrows admired THE CONSTITUTION shows that he had one good point in common with the rest of humanity. In this matter, he was in touch with a great many people who know a good thing when they see it. If he had seen The Augusta Evening News, he would no doubt have given it high praise as an evening paper, and would have carried it in his satchel, along with his other concealed weapons.

As for Colonel William Moore, search him when you will and where you will, and you'll never find him without his favorite Consti-TUTION.

The Census in Court.

Last Saturday, in Kansas City, William H. Gibbons, a census enumerater, was tried on the charge of padding the returns. It was shown that Gibbons made false re turns in order to increase his pay, enumerators being paid according to the number of people counted by them. He was found guilty, fined $50, and sent to jail for two months.

There may be scores of just such enum erators. It may be that they are implicated in the conspiracy which The New York World boldly charges upon certain high officials. Under the circumstances, with the air filled with rumors of corruption, it is in order to carefully review the census, and order recounts wherever the facts will Scheming for an Extra Session. It is a fact which must be conceded that the republican party was never better organized than now. We have called attention to this before, and have urged the democrats to organize and present a solid front to the enemy. Republicans are rallying in nearly every state, and are looking forward to a desperate and determined fight.

The party is scheming to win: its leaders not content with arranging plans for the present, are mapping out lines of battle for the future, and staking off the ground in advance. Their political schemes are many, and they are trying to hedge in the democrats on every side.

Congress had hardly adjourned before the licans began to talk of an extra session. the object of which will be to pass the election bill. The idea is, if the democrats are necessful in the November elections, to get the republicans together, call this extra session, and push the election bill to its passage by way of retaliation. This, they could be easily accomplished, and would be a fine method of revenge for republican defeat. Thus they are providing for all emergen-many friends. Mr. Crawford is cowith The Constitution in, the ca

cies-looking far ahead and covering every inch of ground in sight. But if the democrats are not more active, there will be no need of this extra session, for the republicans will have it all their own way, and can take their time with their infamous measures, and pass them'at their leisure.

From far and near this call to democrats rings like a cry of battle. The red banner republicanism waves high o'er the vigilant hosts that are marching against our de fenseless citadels. Unless the cry is heeded, unless the democrats rally and march bravely to the fight, the victory of the enemy will be

The time is ripe for swift and united action. Let the democratic press throughout the country take up the theme, until the last laggard in the ranks shall catch the inspiration which means victory for the party of liberty and justice.

A Trotting-Horse Breeders' Association.

We observe from The Eatonton Messenger that the suggestion recently made by Captain A. S. Reid with reference to the formation of a Georgia Trotting-Horse Breeders' Association has already been acted on. It was a very timely suggestion made by a very practical gentleman, who is an enthusiast on the subject of stock breeding.

The headquarters of the new association are to be in Eatonton, which is the center of the Bermuda grass region, where the blooded horse finds as high a development as in the blue grass country. The Trotting-Horse Breeders' Association has been organized with Mr. W. F. Anderson, of Macon, as president; Captain A. S. Reid, of Eatonton, as vice president, and Mr. B. W. Hunt, of Eatonton, as secretary and treasurer. The directors are R. E. Branch, of Oconee; Joseph Felker, of Walton; E. Y. Hill, of Wilkes; W. A. Wilkins, of Burke; George Gilmore, of Washington: Dr. Allen, of Baldwin; R. M. Grimes, of Hancock; John C. Garnett, of Chatham; B. W. Wilson, of Chatham, and E. L. Dennard, of Houston.

The directors will meet in Macon on the 28th, when the new association will be put in shape and given direction. It will be a great thing for middle Georgia. The gentlemen engaged in it are all men of energy and action, and we predict that the association will be a success.

THE JEFFERSONIAN movement in the fifth istrict seems to have disappeared up the branch.

LOCAL GOSSIP OF A DAY.

Mr. Ed Angier, who has just returned from the reunion at Knoxville, remarked yesterday "It was an ovation to General Longstreet from the hour of arrival till we left. The old general was very desirous to reach Knoxville Monday night, when the Zollicoffer camp and Fred Ault Bivouack gave a brilliant enter-tainment to the New York Highlanders. Fred Ault was a private and a typical ex-confederate soldier-(by the way, a first cousin of our Judge W. T. Newman)-and it was to celebrate the great virtues of the ignored common soldier that the Fred Ault Bivouack gave their entertainment. A misconnection at Cleveland detained us there all night, and it was a disappointment to General Longstreet as he said the ex-confederate "private" has never received the praise his gallant conduct entitles him to. There was an amusing incident the next day, growing out of the Ault Bivouack. Some bigoted sectionalist saw Generals Longstreet and Wilder sitting under a conederate battle flag, above which was wreathed the American flag. This fellow came to General Wilder, and said: 'Why, general, what is 'Why, general, what is that rebel rag up there for? "Just for such d-n fellows as you,' said the federal general, 'who never saw the bonnie blue flag when it was backed up by bayonets. It serves as a matter of education to a lot of bummers and campfollowers and historical politicians who never saw it till after the war. I saw that flag in the smoke of battle, and am not a bit disturbed by its presence here.'

"General Wilder was a brave union soldier, and his rebuke was well received. "General Longstreet remarked: 'Yes, we have some of the same class down my way soldiers in peace and deserters and stay at-homes in war. They unsheathed the sword when the war was over, and have been keepng up all the sectional bitterness ever since des we have some 'brass band' general lown south, who make a big blow about (what they did during the warthat the official records don't back jup in their ostentatious preten-

Mr. Angier continued: "You rememb the crowd here to see President Cleveland in 1887, and the immense outpouring on Marietta street of the anti-prohibitionists at our rally the night before the election? Well, that was the night before the election? Well, that was the sort of crowd that thronged the streets to see General Longstreet ride down between the lines. I never heard such cheering. Old soldiers broke through the cordon of policemen and rushed to the carriage to shake the old general's hand. I never saw so much crying. They would shake his hand and cry and laugh alternately. Old, grizzled, gray-headed men would sob like little children. But when Longstreet mounted the stand in the big tent, I witnessed a scene the like of which I never expect to again seo. There were over 15,000 veterans from both armies present. 'Three cheers for Longstreet!' yelled out an old soldier of his corps. For once I heard the 'rebel yell' swelled to a mighty sound by the union veterans that seemed to make the earth fairly tremble. Well, they cheered again and again. Federal and ex-confederate soldiers hugged each other in a delirium of joy. "When the cheering the state of the service of the servic

When the cheering subsided, I took the ad to read General Longstreet's speech, as at terrible builtet wound through his throat, ceived at the Wilderness in 1864, interferes ith his articulation, and I could scarcely read line but it so peased the veterans that the rould break out into a wild outburst of ar lause for Longstreet. A tribute which everybody who has been thrown with Mr. Jackson will endorse. He has very many warm friends in Atlanta who will wish him every success in his new field.

Architect Gardner, who drew the plans for the Grady hospital, had something interesting to say about that institution yesterday.

"The bids will be opened on the 20th," he said. "As yet, estimates are being made by contractors outside of Atlanta rather more freely than by our home men; in fact, there have not been as many bids from Atlanta firms as I had expected. Why is that? I don't know, unless it is due to the great amount of work now being done in Atlanta. I see no reason why this shouldn't be an easy job for the contractors. There are several buildings like one another, and that, it seems to me, would make it simpler and more easy of construction than a big building more complicated in design. The plans, you might say, are at our offices on Peachtree, near the artesian well and either way or the contractor. say, are at our offices on Peachtree, near the artesian well, and either my son or I will be there to make any explanations necessary. The county alliance requested the executive com-mittee to call a mass meeting of the citizens mittee to call a mass meeting of the citizened the county to ascertain whether the representatives and senator should be instructed to cast their votes for General Gordon or not, and the committee and the 18th as the day for the meeting. General Gordon's friends are had to work in his behalf, so reports from the county indicate, and the other side is not sleeping. His friends have invited the greener to be present that day and address the meeting, and they think he will accept. If he does, it is probable that some alliancems or somebody else will be there to specify for the control of or somebody else will be there to speak for the

WILL ADDRESS THE PEOPLE OF

ON NATIONAL AND STATE AFFAIRS. Georgia's Senior Senator Is Very Much Improved in Health, and Accepts the Invitation for National Day.

Senator Joseph E. Brown has accepted an invitation of Governor W. J. Northen, president of the State Agricultural Society, to deliver an address at the state fair in Macon on the 23d instant

This will be a genuine surprise and a welcome piece of news to his thousands of friends throughout the state, who have naturally felt very anxious on account of the discouraging news that has been published from time to time concerning the

On hearing yesterday that the senator was to speak in Macon, a Constitution reporter called on him.

"It is true," said he, "that I will go to Macon on the 23d, and I am now preparing my speech. Governor Northen wrote me a very kind [letter inviting me to be present on 'National Day,' the 23d, and asking me to deliver an address, or if I did not feel strong enough to speak myself to have some one read it for me. I am not strong now, but I am a great deal better than I have been, and I have concluded to accept the invitation. If, on the 23d, I do not feel equal to the task of delivering my address I will avail myself of Mr. Northen's considerate proposition and have it read."

"What will be the line of your discus-

"I have not decided exactly, but I will have something to say on national issues. I regret exceedingly that my health forbade me discussing the Lodge force bill in the senate, but I shall have something to say about it in Macon. I will also devote some attention to the McKinley bill, which I think is a very disastrous measure. However, now that it has been forced on us and the south has to bear the burden of its discrimination, I shall try to point out the best way for our people to meet it. I will take the line that as the bill is fixed on us we must get out of it as soon as we can, and in the meantime do our best to get what good there is in it for us. I shall urge that our people pay more attention to manufacturing and that they depend more on their own resources than they have been doing. If there is any virtue in protected industries in New England we must strive to see if we cannot apply that virtue to our own section. In other words, if the country has settled upon the idea that protection is the thing, and if the south, though it believes the contrary, must accept it, it is to our advantage to make the most of it. We can only do this by developing our own resources and doing our own manufacturing."

"Will you refer to any of the political issues now under discussion in the state?" "Not at length, though I have no doubt that in the preparation of my speech several things will suggest themselves to me in connection with the farmers' movement, and the discussion which it has created. I shall not go into details; indeed it is probable that I will not refer at all in a specific, but only in a general way, to the farmers' movement in organizing for the redress of their wrongs. The farmer has been discriminated against-this no one can deny. They have wrongs that ought to be righted and the best way for them to right them is by co-operative effort. As long as they work within the lines of the democratic party in their efforts to seek relief, they ought to be helped by the de-

"I will express my opinion on this subject, and will take the position that the farmers, in growing strong enough to control public matters, should move with wisdom, justice and moderation in shaping legislation, and should be guided by a sense of fairness and equity to other classes. That they will be, I have no doubt, and I am frank to say that I do not share in the opinion that the state has anything to fear in the farmers controlling both branches of its legislature by so strong a majority."

"It has been rumored, senator, that as your health has grown much better, that your name would probably be used for the senate again."

"It will not be," replied the senator, "I am through with public service and will spend the rest of my life apart from official care. Indeed, I doubted for a while about accepting Mr. Northen's invitation to speak in Macon for fear that my motive might be misconstrued. No, I will not be a candidate for re-election.' Senator Brown, while by no means vigorous, is very much improved in health, and is well enough to drive to his business office occasionally.

He looks very much as of old, except that his long, flowing white beard has been cut to a length of about four inches, making him look very much younger.

The announcement that he has improved in health sufficiently to enable him to undertake a public address will be good news to his friends and to the people of the state, who will join in the hope that he may be spared for many years.

THE CONSTITUTION will publish the speech when it is delivered and it will no doubt repay the many readers who will read it in our columns for a careful perusal.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL.

A vacancy being caused in the office of the county judgeship of Clay county by the resignation of G. G. Lark, Mr. W. A. Scott was appointed to the position until a successor can be elected by the legislature.

A number of county returns for the last state election were not made in accordance with the law; and have not been corrected since, though the ordinaries of these counties have been notified to do so by Secretary of State General Cook.

WHAT THE PEOPLE TALK ABOUT.

Hon. R. A. Connell, of Decatur county, is in the city. Mr. Connell at one time represented his county in the legislature, and gained considerable notoriety by the introduc-tion of a bill to tax bachelors and another one to tax dogs. On this occasion Mr. Connell visits Atlanta on business, having two impor-tant patents, which he will exhibit at the Piedmont exposition.

"I have," said he, "the most complete manure distributer ever invented, which can be connected with a wagon in one minute, and which will do the same amount of work in a day as six men. It is undoubtedly the best labor-saver yet invented. I will exhibit the distributor in Atlanta, Montgomery and Macon, and return home on November 20th. I also have a new fish wrench, pronounced by experts to be the best wrench ever made." Mr. Connell is owner of the noted Whigham Springs, a pure, freestone water containing fine mineral properties, and flowing at the rate of six gallons per minute the year round. The scenery around the spring is beautiful, fifty-five acres within the corporate limits of Whigham and 175 acres just out of the corporation line and owned by this gentleman. He offers two acres of land within thirty yards of the spring to any man who will erect a hotel thereon, and five acres for a site for a college, the offer holding good for sixty days.

"In seven miles of Whigham," says Mr. Connell, "is a lovely fall of water measuring eighty-three feet. At this point a ginnery, oil mill and guano factory will be built within the next three months, at a cost of $16,000."

A conspicuous figure at the Kimball last night was Colonel Estes, president of the King cotton mills, of Augusta. "I am only on a brief visit to Atlanta," said the colonel, having come this far with my family, who are en route to Texas, on a visit to my son. I don't know anything special that would interest THE CONSTITUTION, as we have no senatorial candidates in Augusta, but two of our nembers-elect to the legislature are aspirants for the speakership of the house of representa-tives. The new tariff does not affect the manufacture of cotton goods at all in the south. We can do just as well with 1 per cent or 300. Our mills could sell three or four times as much of their product as we have capacity for. It is out of the question for English manufacturers to compete with the southern mills. They can't do it. Yes, Augusta is a large manufacturing center, and, as Joe Harris will tell you, the canal is the biggest thing in Au-

"No, I did not come to the exposition," said the handsome and gallant Colonel William Moore, of The Augusta Evening News, "but am merely in Atlanta on private business. Am sorry I have no news to spare, as we need all we have in our business. I am going to attend the Columbia county fair at Harlem before returning to Augusta."

Colonel Moore is looking exceedingly well, and is still unmarried. In fact, it is said on good authority that there is only one married man connected with The News.

Colonel Charles C. Jones, the gifted orator and historian, came over from Augusta last night and is quartered at the Kimball.

"My stay in your city will necessarily be brief," said Colonel Jones, "as I am here on business that will only detain me until noon tomorrow. I have not completed the third volume of my history of Georgia, but the two volumes that are completed contain the most important and difficult points that I desired to publish. Am at sea as to the senatorial race and look to Atlanta for news in this direction.

The colonel is full of humor, and tells a story with his usual fluency and ease. Incidentally, ex-Governor McDaniel's name was mentioned in connection with the sena-

"Speaking of McDaniel," Colonel Jones continued, "reminds me of an incident which happened soon after his election. An old friend of his entered the executive office and addressing the governor, said: 'McDaniel, Georgia is getting in a bad fix here lately. The last governor we had couldn't walk, and now we have got one that can't talk.'

Hon. Allen D. Candler, of Gainesville, was registered at the Markham yesterday, but made only a short stay in the city, being en route to Buford, Gwinnett county, where he will speak today in behalf of Colonel Winn, democratic nominee for congress in the ninth

Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, of Coweta county, Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, of Coweta county, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Atkinson has for two terms been a member of the legislature, and has been elected for a third term. He was chairman of the last state democratic convention, and will no doubt take a prominent stand in the next house. He is a man of ability and of strong convictions and his public service has been productive of great good to the state. to the state.

"What is the capacity of your compress?"

"Five hundred bales per day, and I intend to work it to its limit or in other words I intend to press the full 500 bales per day."

DISCRIMINATING AGAINST AMERICUS-The Central Railroad Accused of Refusing

The Central Railroad Accused of Refusing Cara.

Americus, Ga., October 14.—[Special.]—If the reports from the Alabama coal mines are correct, the Central railroad has declared a coal boycott against Americus, so far as the use of its coal cars and lines are concerned. Last night one of the manufacturing establishments, which uses probably more coal than any other here, received a telegram from Birmingham, in reply to an inquiry why coal ordered was not being shipped, which said: "Your coal has not been shipped because the Central railroad has refused to furnish us cars to ship coal to Americus."

This will compel shipment by an indirect route, at a much higher rate and larger terms; but satisfactory arrangements will no doubt be arranged at once by the Savannah, Americus and Montgomery railroad with its connections, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and the Georgia Pacific, by which this obstacle can be overcome. It is rumored that an attempt will he made to say if the interstate railroad

It is rumored that an attempt will be made to see if the interstate railroad commission cannot compel the discontinuance of this discrimination against Americus in the matter of supplying coal cars to the mines, but no definite action has been taken looking to such an appeal, as the need of it may be ob-viated by the obtaining of an equal rate by other lines.

TO BE EXTENDED.

Columbus's Railroads Is Being Pushed Further West.

COLUMBUS, Ga., October 14.-[Special.]-At a meeting of the directors of the Mobile and Girard railroad held here yesterday a resolution was adopted looking to the making of financial arrangements for the extension of the road from Troy to Pollard, Brewton or some other point west of Troy, and providing for the issuance of bonds to the extent of $12,700 per mile for that purpose. The resolution provides that the issue of bonds shall not exceed $4,000,000.

The directors decided to issue a call for a special meeting of the stockholders of the company to be held in Girard on November 22d to ratify their action.

The work of extending the road is already in progress, and is being pushed forward rapidly.

HISTORY OF THE COUNTY. Seven Found Guilty of Murder in the First Degree, One Suicided, One Pardoned. One to Be Sentenced Today.

Fulton's murderers-

And that in the entire history of a county that has had its full share of criminals and of

But of even this small number only five have suffered the extreme penalty of the law. By murderers, of course, is meant those conted of murder in the first degree without the recommendation to mercy, which saves so many necks from the gallows.

Among the negroes, especially, there have been many cases of killing, some of which were infanticide, wife-murder and man

Several are serving life sentences in the penitentiary for crimes like these, but the cases have been extremely rare where a jury of twelve men deemed it due to the law and ustice that the old Mosaic rule of a life for a life should be enforced.

The first murderer sund guilty and senterced to capital punishment was Bill [Choice. He shot and killed Calvin Webb on December 31, 1858.

The fight occurred on what is now Pryor street, just opposite the main entrance of the Kimball house. His weapon was one of those old-fashioned pistols that were equal to a Winchester rifle in their trueness when in tho hands of a skilled marksman.

Choice was on the north side of the street and Webb on the south side. Choice fired and the bullet sped true to its mark, and Webb fell mortally wounded.

Choice was apprehended and tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged.

But strong influence was brought to bear, the case was appealed to the legislature, and he was pardoned by a vote in which there was but one majority in his favor. THREE MURDERERS

The next murder that occurred was one of the most atrocious character.

A well-to-do farmer named Landrum, who lived out in the direction of McDonough, came to the little town-that was just previous to the breaking out of the war-with a load of cotton, which he disposed of and started

Three men named Radford Crockett, John Cobb and Gabe Jones, made up a plot to murder and rob the old farmer, who was supposed to have a large sum of money on his person. They followed him out on the McDonough road, until near the spot where it is now intersected by the East Tennessee railroad. It was a lonely place then, and they fell upon the defenseless farmer, killed and then robbed him.

And they secured-thirty cents! The body was discovered, and, as murder will out, the miscreants were hunted down. The trial was a most remarkable one, and the details are yet familiar to the memories of some of the older citizens.

Crockett and Cobb were convicted of murder in the first degree and were sentenced to be hanged.

Jones was recommended to the mercy of the court and sent up for life. Crockett and Cobb suffered the extreme pen-alty, but, the war coming on, Jones was pared out so that he might enlist in the Georgia State Penitentiary Guards. He went to the front to fight the battles of the confederacy, and has never been heard of Whether he perished in battle, hospital or some northern prison, or whether he is still

He was given the death sentence, and was hanged on June 13, 1873.

He was the last white man hanged in Fulton county, but not the last found guilty of CHEATED THE GALLOWS. Milt Malone was a pretty tough character along back in the early 70's.

After going through a good many escapades he became engaged in a brawl on Decatur street, near the old Masonic temple.

During the course of the row he killed Frank Phillips, a well-known citizen of Atlanta.

Public excitement ran very high over the murder, which was committed in a most blood-thirsty nanner.

Majone was tried, convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged. That was in the early part of 1873.

He was put in jail, and as the time for his execution drew near, a strict guard was kept around him.

But even the death watch was unavailing.

By some mean he secured a sufficient quantity.

By some means hosecured a sufficient quantity of some poisonous drug, and on the night be-fore the hanging he swallowed the deadly

The gallows was prepared, but there was no hanging. Milt Malone had cheated the gal-TWO NEGRO MURDERERS.

They went to his store at night to purchase some syrup. The unsuspecting grocer went down into the basement, followed by the ruffians, to draw the syrup.

One of them was armed with a bar of iron, with which he struck Mr. Casey a deadly blow.

The other drew a knife and cut the uncon

THE LAST HANGING. The last man hung in Fulton county was a negro named Alf Orange.

The crime was a bloody one, and grew out of that fruitful source of negro quarrels, a love affair.

He and another negro were in love with the same woman. Orange was very jealous, and one night he dogged the footsteps of his rival to the home of his dusky enamorata.

The other negro entered, and, securing an ax, Orange hid under the doorstep to await his victim.

After remaining for some time the rival.

After remaining for some time the rival came out of the house, unsuspecting, and about the time his feet touched the ground the murderous ax blade sank to the handle in his brain.

He never knew who struck him.

But the law found out, and Alf Orange was convicted of deliberate murder and hanged.

Up to the last moment he gloried in the act, and went on the scaffold rejoicing in the fact that he had satiated his revengefully jealous feelings.

THE LAST CONVICTION.

The last murder case is familiar to the pub Charles M. Ozburn, a young merchant, is confined in Fulton county jail, convicted of the murder of John M. Bradley, another the murder of John M. Bradley, another prominent merchant.

He will probably receive sentence today, as the verdict of the jury Monday night was murder, without any sort of recommendation.

As a matter of course, after the conviction, he judge of the court is left no discretion except to pronounce the fatal sentence, which will probably be done by Judge Richard H.

Clark today.

There will be a motion for a new trial, and in case that is denied, an appeal to the supreme court.

Ozburn was ably defended by conscientious attorneys, who will leave nothing undone to save him from the gallows.

As to the result of their efforts, no one can tell.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE.

That Is How Many the Electric Cars Can Carry to the Exposition. This year the crowds that visit the exposiion will find transportation facilities amply ufficient to move all who come without any trouble.

The Fulton County Street Railway Company—the electric line—has made prepara-tions for comfort, convenience and quick transit that are sure to catch a large portion of the travel to and from the exposition grounds.

Besides the convenience and comfort of the electric line, it will be something of a novelty to many of the visitors to the exposition to make the trip on the electric cars. The Fulton county line is, by the way, one of the best constructed and best equipped and managed in the country, and as such, it will be in the nature of an additional attraction to the exposition, especially to street railway men in other cities who contemplate the adoption of electricity on their lines.

"We have facilities for carrying 10,000 people per day," said Mr. Levi Nelson, superintendent of the line, yesterday, "and we will do it comfortably and quickly.

"Our schedule will be twenty-two and a half minutes for the trip, which is the quickest of any of the lines running to the park. There will be no delay or anything of that sort to inconvenience our visitors. Our schedules will be run jam up. We will put on an additional number of motors, and our facilities for handling the crowds in every other way will be made sufficient to meet all demands made upon us.

"We have a convenient terminus at the exposition grounds, just within a few yards of the entrance to the main building and machinery hall. There our entrances and exits are arranged to facilitate the handling of big lectric line, it will be something of a novelty the entrance to the main building and machinery hall. There our entrances and exits are arranged to facilitate the handling of big crowds, and, with the large force of gate-keepers, we expect to do it nicely and without crush or jams of any kind."

Mr. Nelson says he has arranged to sell tickets to and from the grounds at the company's office, on Broad street. This will be a great convenience.

MRS. GOULD'S FRIEND

He is an open-hearted, generous|merchant. Since the arrest and imprisonment of Mrs Gould, the gentleman has sent her many little presents, books, papers, paints, confections and cigaretts being the contents of the packages. Every gift meets with a warm appreciation, and nearly every mail brings the Atlantian a letter written in the Murphy jail.
Mrs. Gould usually turns to poetry before finishing her letters and in one received yesterday she wrote:

What awaits me? Who can say?
Thus I sit and muse today
If man condemns me! Still I'll say
'Tis God's own light that points that way.

Oft in dreadful years now past, I marveled how that I could last, The minds contusions day by day But God's own light still showed the way. And oft I'd shuddering turn away From that dim, distant flickering ray,

It seemed like mocking me to say That God's own light could lead that way.

But day by day I had to look, And stony paths my footsteps took. Mid frightful scences my thoughts would stray, And whisper me, God lead the way.

Awaiting now! The just decree, I'll view the light as judges see, Whate'er the sentence still I'll say, "Tis "God's own light" leads me this way. THE WEATHER.

The blood may have become impure on account of colds and exposure, improper food, weak digestion, urinary disorders, etc. However, it is well to remove the unnatural condition of the blood and the flesh by a prompt use of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla. It looks very much like it. At least, this is the first step in that line. The appointment of a commissioner by the Farmers' Alliance, of the state of Georgia, was made yesterday.

Hon. W. A. Broughton, of Madison, is the appointee, and few men more fitted for the task could have been selected.

A SUCCESSFUL PLANTER. Mr. Broughten is one of the most successful farmers in the state, and is a man of broad intelligence and experience.

Last evening he accepted the appointment tendered him by the alliance, and will go to work at once on the great undertaking.

The object of the appointment is to make a thorough investigation of the matter, and to see what sort of satisfactory arrangement can be made to deliver the cotton to the spinners in Europe, direct, and thus save the enormous charges paid out annually in handling

A GREAT SAVING.

It is estimated that if satisfactory arrange ments can be made in this way, it will save for the state $4,500,000 annually on the handling of the cotton crop.

This is an enormous item, and if the calculation be correct, will be a boon to the farmers Mr. Broughton will not sail for Europe unti January 1st. He has been given ample time to visit the manufacturers of the United States, and become acquainted with the manufacturers of this country and see what can be done with them in the way of arranging for the disposition of the crop.

Mr. Broughton's fine business experience, coupled with the fact that he is and ever has been the friend of the farmers, and has their best interests at heart, is an assurance that whatever he does will be well done.

Should he succeed, and he will if success is ossible, in this undertaking, the outcome will be beyond comprehension in its effects. THE GRAND INCOHONE.

THEY WERE DISSATISFIED

Secause Time Checks Had Been Introduced in the Mills. There was a little excitement at the Southern oil mills yesterday morning. Sixty or seventy-five hands employed there became dissatisfied because a new time check had been introduced, such as are used in the mills at Montgomery.

This check is of pasteboard, with printed numbers on one side, to indicate days and fractions of days for the week. When the employe brings in his time each day the check is punched to dicate the time.

On the other side is printed in big black let-On the other side is printed in big black letters, "Drop This in the Slot Saturday Night."
Of course the check is a safeguari for the laborer as well as a great convenience for the superintendent and his assistants and-clerks.
But just below the big black letters is printed a short provise in small type to the effect that the owners of the mill are not hable for damages for injuries received, while in the employ of the company, by the man bearing the cleck.

the check.

That was what the hands mainly kicked on.

Superintendent Haskell, however, talked the matter over with the men, and a satisfactory arrangement will be effected today in all probability.

WILL CLOSE TODAY.

Mayor Glenn Issues An Order Closing the City Offices.

The city hall offices will be closed today on count of the opening of the exposition. Mayor Glenn yesterday issued the order eading: ATLANTA, Ga., October 14.-To the people of Atlanta: Tomorrow is the opening day of the Piedmont exposition of 1890, and should be observed as such. The public offices of the city will be closed after 11 o'clock a. m. I urgently request the merchants and other basiness men of the city to close their business houses at 12 o'clock to allow themselves and all their employes to attend the opening dry's exercises. Respectfully, John T. Glenn, Mayor.

TWO ALARMS.

The Companies Have Two Runs, but No Damage.

There were two alarms of fire yesterday. The first was sent in from No. 316 Decatur street, and was found to be a small fire on the roof of a building, caused by falling sparks.

The damage was insignificant.
The second run was to an alarm sent in from box 15, and the companies were again called out, but it proved to be a false alarm.

Curious, Isn't It?

The London of today with its millions of inhabitants, includes more Scotchmen than there are in Edinburg; more Irish than there are in Dublin; more Jews than there are in Palestine, and more Americans than there are in Atlanta; but not one ewelry establishment so complete, in every department, as Messrs. J. P. Stevens & Bro., of 47 Whitehall street, this city.

A gentleman who was in London the summer past, wished to have a pair of diamond carrings remounted; he was actomished to find that none of the jewelers kept there mountings made up, and that he must leave the stones two or three days in order to get them mounted. At Messrs. Stovens & Bro., here, a pair of diamond earrings are mounted and returned to you in an hour.

YOUR OWN LIFE.

May Be Saved if You Will Think of Yourself a Moment and Then Act.

Ulceration of the bowels, usually called "itching piles," is a very common affliction, and not causing much pain is usually considered of small importance, and the disease is allowed to develop into a very grave affliction. The symptoms of this trouble are moisture and itching around the anus, pain across the hips (low down), diarrhoa, and irregular bowels, pain in lower part of same, indigestion, and a long train of nervous symptoms, differing in nearly every case); and in the female, who are more liable to be affected than the male, many symptoms usually attributed to female diseases. This disease is a very fruitful cause of many diseases refusing to yield to the treatment of your physician, and places you on the list of "incurables." The results of neglecting this affliction are terrible to contemplate, a general impairment of health, frequently so slow as to be scarcely noticeable, derangement of the nervous system, unfitting you for business or enjoyment of pleasure, the development of cancer and stricture of bowels, or loss of power of controlling same when happily death intervenes and relieves the sufferer of histortures. This is a terrible picture, but a true one. You may by neglect make this your own; can you take the risk when a cure is offered you? Treating rectal diseases exclusively for a number of years, I am able to offer you a cure without the usual pain attending the treatment employed by one, who has not the experience in treating these diseases. The mode of treatment I employ for their cure is mild and is not unpleasant in anyway, as I use neither knife or caustic applications. I have cared many, and I am willing that they should tell you of my success if you wish to investigate what I have said, I extend to you an invitation to consult me, (free of cost,) and I will prove all I have said to the satisfaction of the most skeptical. The reputation of a man is made up of what people say of him. In like manner the reputation of a medicine depends on what they who have used it say. It is a successful physician's prescription and quickly cures both mild and terrible cases of bad blood.

The policy as well as the furstom of the police department in dealing with this unfort made class has always been one of lenience so long as they complied with the regulations of the department, the rule being not to interfere with them, unless through a petition of editions living in the neighborhood, or for some violation of the ordinances, and in no instance has a petition or request been made to me that the parties have not been notified and required to move within a given time.

The wisdom of this rule is apparent, for were the individual members of the force ablowed on their own motion to arrest or swee r cut accusations the temptation to levy blade-mail would be very great, hence the commissioners did not see fit to change this rule at their meeting last night.

The testimony of Mr. Hart did not disclose negligence on the part of the department, but on the contrary ruly sustained this rule. In answer to a direct question from the chairmen, he stated that he had never known of an instance where complaint had been made in proper form that the department had failed to notify the parties to move. During my term of office I have always labored earnestly for the preservation of good morals, and in no internals of the department had been complied with. Respectfully.

"Odd Sale" of Tea, Dinner & Toilet Sets

Which We Inaugurated,

To Continue One Week Longe

About three weeks ago we inaugurated what we called an "Odd Sale;" that is a sale for selling off all of our odd pieces of China, Dinner, Tea and Bedroom Sets, and general brica-brac. We had a great many odd pieces and we have been selling them at a nominal price. This Sale will Continue One Week Longe

During that time we will offer odd pieces at especially low prices, and if there is anything you want in the way of Tea, Dinner and Toilet Sets, you can get it at our store for almost a

Sets, you can get it at our store for almost a song.

Next week our new goods will be coming into the market and we must clear the way for them. We have a considerable amount of odd pieces of China, Crockery and Giassware on hand, as well as a great many odd pieces in other lines. In fact, if you want any odd pieces in the line we carry, you can get it this week at a greatly reduced price. These goods that we are selling are strictly first-class. It is not old stock, because we carry none of that. In transportation frequently a dish or a bowl, a pitcher or some part of a set is broken, which renders it almost impossible for us to realize full price upon it. Recollect our "Odds." They are strictly first-class, both in design and finish. The sale will continue only one week longer. Call in tomorrow morning at 45 Peachtree street and see us.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

For Mayor of Atlanta. For Mayor of Atlanta.

The friends of Hon. Anton Kontz announce him as a candidate for the mayoralty of Atlanta. They point with pride to his record as a citizen, as a business man, as an officer, as a public servant and as a friend. Atlanta needs a man of nerve, of probity, of high personal character, who relies upon his own judgment, and who cannot be swerved for mayor. Such a man is Anton Kontz, and as such the suffrages of the people are asked for him.

The Constitution Job Office has superior facilities for all kinds of Exposition Printing.

Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular. Hubbard, Price & Co.'s Circular.

NEW YORK, October 14—[Special]—Opening at an advance upon foreign advices better than anticipated it quickly became evident that the undertone was weak, due to some unknown influences. These influences were soon discovered to be a feeling of general distrust spreading through the financial circles of London; and, while the runors there current could not be effectually traced, it was evident that large selling orders in American securities had been seat here from abroad. Our Liverpool friends cable the same in fluences were at work in their market, and prices both here and abroad close easy at the lowest of the day. So long as we are without frost, and the present uneasmess in financial circles continues, BONDS, STOCKS AND cotton cannot be expected to slow any resistance to the volume of receipts coming daily to market.

NEW YORK, October 11.—Advices from London this morning were most depressing. A fearcity of money there, added to the precautionary action of the imperial bank of Germany, created fear that the minimum rate of discount would be raised, and the carrying of stocks rendered more expensive in the near future. Political complications between England and Portugal also had their influence in creating the uneasy feeling there and early myices from London showed ma-

The decline was very sharp in early trading, and while there was a rally in the forenoon, it was feeler, and soon came to an end. The afternoon drive was extended to a greater number of stocks than during the forenoon, and prices melted away rapidly under pressure without support of any kind. road Personals and Topics of Genera Interest Concerning Railroad Matters in Every Section.

The Beit Railroad Company, of Memphis, as on foot a gigantic scheme, the proportions which will require the outlay of $1,000,000, and of which great results are expected. The bleet is to build a belt railroad around the of Memphis. The incorporators are a aber of the best known and most energetic siness men of Memphis, with Mr. Samuel to as president. Every railroad entering emphis will connect with the belt line, and tories will be erected at intervals along the It is also said that the cotton resses will be removed from the city and re-nilt on the belt line. The cotton factor and on producer will be benefited by the if it is made, as they at present have pay about $1 per bale for drayage on the 00,000 bales of cotton handled annually in mphis, and the belt road can handle much less. At first it would seem that the compress company could not afford to bandon its city property, with its improveents, which have cost hundreds of thouof dollars, but the property is too valuable for factory purposes, and if cut up into town lots and sold, the investment on the belt line will prove a paying one. The Appeal says there is no doubt about the line being

The Missouri Pacific has just issued a chedule of winter transit to Texas and the south. The rate is from Kansas City to City of Mexico, $71.55; to Austin, $28.65; to El Paso, $43.55; to Corpus Christi, $38.85; to Galveston, $32.40; to Houston, $30.40, and to San Antonio, $31.85. Tickets will be sold antil April 30, 1821, and will be good for thirty days. Step-overs will be allowed in the state of Texas within the respective going and returning days.

There is much complaint in Kansas City About excessive switching charges on coal in and around the city. These charges add from 10 cents to 30 cents a ton on every carload shipped into the city and handled by the belt line or other roads than that of the original carrier. These charges alone add $200,000 a year to the cost of coal used by manufacturers whose plants are not located directly upon the line of road which first received it.

The Norfolk and Western, in connection with the Old Dominion Steamship Company, is inaugurating a new feature in southern rates during the winter season. Hitherto the Pennsylvania and other influential lines have provented any round-trip tickets being sold to southern points, except such as were peculiarly winter rescrits, like Jacksonville. The Old Dominion Steamship Company is this year, however, selling round-trip tickets at excursion rates to various points in Virginia, Tennessee, Georgia, Kentucky and Alabama, good for forty days. for forty days.

In Texas if a railroad company does not ence its road the law makes this such negli-ence as fixes liability on the company for in-ury to stock by locomotive and cars, running on the road at any place, where it might lawfully be fenced, and this liability cannot be avoided unless it be shown that the injury occurred at a place where it was unlawful for stock to be at large, or that the injury was the immediate and proximate result of the owner's Denville railroad against the Durham Northern, has been decided in favor of ormer. There has been much interest fested in the outcome of this case, but it enerally believed that the Richmond and ille would win. The decision prevents e of Peabody street, Durham, N. ville Chronicle: "According to the miledgeville Chronicle: "According to the report of Major Green for the fiscal year, June 30, 1839, to June 30, 1830, the freight of the Georgia railroad at Milledgeville amounted to $35,170. The number of bales of cotton shipped from this place by the Georgia road was 8,984."

The Covington Star learns from parties whare in position to know that the Georgia Midland will probably be extended from McDonough to Atlanta. A line is to be surveyed to Atlanta at once, a corps of engineers had ing already been put in the field for that pu

The citizens of Quitman are endeavoring to arouse enthusiasm and raise sufficient funds with which to build a railroad from Tampa Fia., to Quitman, Brooks county. Judge Joseph iTliman has recently visited Chicagin the interest of the projected road and is very hopeful of success.

The National Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers will meet in Pittsburg, Pa., today This will be one of the most important conventions over held, as several vital questions will be decided, not the least being trouble on western roads, where men are placed in charge of engines who have not received proper apprenticeship. There will be 400 divisions represented, each by one delegate.

An important meeting of the directors of the Mobile and Girard railroad was held at the office of the company Monday.

A resolution was adopted looking to the making of financial arrangements for the extension of the road from Troy to Pollard, Brewton or some other point west of Troy, and providing for the issuance of bonds to the extent of $12,700 per mile for that purpose. The resolution provides that the issue of bonds shall not exceed $4,000,000.

An elegant union depot is now being dis An elegant union depot is now being discussed by the managements of the Texas and Pacific, Houston and Texas Central, St. Louis, Arkansas and Texas and Shorman, Denisor and Dalias railways, and it is probable that before long all four of Sherman's railroads will center at one point, instead of having their depots scattered over the city.

The Niagara Falls and Lewiston Railroa Company, with a capital stock of $100,000 has been incorporated. The road will be about seven miles long, from the easterly shore of Niagara river, near Lewiston, to the village of Niagara Falls.

It is stated upon good authority that the preliar nary survey for the extension of the Sherman, Tex., division of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway to Dailas will be commenced in a few days.

President Hornsby, of the Fort Worth and Rio Grande, says that the tracklaying of his road will be completed to Comanche, Tex., by the 16th of October.

Owing to a scarcity of cars, there is a freigh specka, a at Plane, Tex. The Cotton Belt is outling in two additional transfer tracks to connece with the Central.

rillman Palace Car Company furnishe 2,0% seepers and drawing room cars to rail-roads in the United States last year at a cest of $20,000,000. The Pullman company operates over 125,037 miles out of a total of 128,445 miles in the United States.

The Texas and Pacific railroad will receive om the Baldwin Locomotive Works during is month ten locomotives, with 20x24-inch linders, weighing 115,000 pounds without all or yater. These will give the Texas and acific forty locomotives of this class.

The change in the gauge of the East and West railroad of Alabama has been completed from Cartersville, Ga., to Pell City, Ala., and the read is now ready to receive and covert traffic of all descriptions.

e. J. A. Baldwin, late traffic chief in the tern Union telegraph office, has been apted train master of the Atlanta and Floralizad, and has accepted the position. Baldwin was highly esteemed by everyone ected with the Western Union office, and rays afternoon was presented with a loome gold watch chain and seal by the gentlemen with whom he has been associated so long. Mr. Baldwin is a splendid railroad man, and has had many years' experience in train dispatching. Mr. E. C. Dunn has succeeded Mr. Baldwin as traffic chief in the Western United
